Special Dispatch to Pittsburgh Commercial.

JOHNSTOWN, September 20, 1866.

The following is the verdict of the Coroner's Jury in the case of David Metzgar, one of the killed by the falling of the platform at this place on Friday last. A similar verdict has been, or will be rendered in the case of each death resulting from the accident.

CAMBRIA COUNTY SS: An inquisition taken at the Mansion House, in the Fourth ward of Johnstown borough, in said county, the 14th day of September, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, before Wm. Flattery, Coroner of said county, upon view of the body of David Metzgar, of Johnstown borough, then and there lying dead, upon oaths and affirmations of R. P. Linton, George Engleback, John F. Barnes, John Flanagan, Jacob Horner, and Joshua F. Carpenter, good and lawful men of the county aforesaid, who were sworn and affirmed and charged to enquire on the part of the Commonwealth, when, where, how and after what manner the said David Metzgar came to his death: Having viewed the body, adjourned from day to day until the 19th inst., and having heard the evidence, do say, upon their oaths and affirmations, that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is an incorporated transportation company for freight and passengers between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, by the way of Johnstown; that at or about the hour of eleven o'clock, A. M., of the fourteenth inst., the said Railroad Company's engine and passenger cars, bearing the Presidential party, arrived at the Johnstown station, going East, and there stopped in pursuance of an arrangement and notice to that end, for the purpose of enabling the Presidential party and the people then and there to meet and receive each other; that whilst there for that purpose, that part of the platform at said station spanning the old Pennsylvania canal, now used as a railroad by the Cambria Iron Company, gave way, precipitating some twenty feet hundreds of people to the bottom of said canal, resulting in the immediate death of the said David Metzgar, and in the injury of others; that the essential timbers of said bridge or platform were partially rotten, the whole structure defective and insufficient to support and sustain the number and weight of persons drawn to and invited upon it, and was in general necessarily dangerous; that the said train stopped at an unusual point at said station, and thereby drew the people upon the most weak and dangerous part of said platform, and had said train stopped at the usual place of stopping at said station, the said accident would not probably have happened, and that the said David Metzgar came to his death by reasons of injuries received over the region of the stomach and bowels in and by the fall of said platform on the day and year aforesaid, by reason of the said negligence of said company as aforesaid.

In witness whereof the said jurors and Coroner aforesaid, have to this inquisiton put their hands and seals the nineteenth day of September eighteen hundred and sixty-six.

R. P. LINTON,
GEORGE ENGLEBACK,
JOHN FLANAGAN,
JACOB HORNER,
J. F. BARNES,
J. F. CARPENTER,
WM. FLATTERY, Coroner.

Mrs. Sarah Walsh, another of the victims, died on Wednesday night, making the sixth death. It is thought several others cannot survive their injuries.

THE FLOOD.

DAMAGE TO THE RAILROADS

Cornfields in Indiana Inundated.

Deaths by Drowning.

CINCINNATI, September 20.—The rain storm continues. With the exception of the Little Miami, and the Marietta and Cincinnati, every railroad leading out of the city has been damaged to such an extent as to interrupt the running of trains. The Indianapolis and Cincinnati roads lost three bridges, but the most important one over the Great Miami has so far escaped. The Hamilton and Dayton and Atlantic and Great Western are interrupted at Elk creek. The Dayton and Michigan lost three bridges. The Indiana Central lost three bridges between Cambridge City and Indianapolis. The Great Eastern road is damaged between Richmond and Chicago, but to what extent is not known. Trains were withdrawn from both ends of this road yesterday. The Columbus, Piqua and Indianapolis road lost its great bridge at Piqua. A portion of the Ohio and Mississippi bridge over the Great Missouri, is down. If the storm subsides it is thought most of the roads will be in operation again by to-morrow.

Unprecedented freshets are reported on all sides. White river was two feet higher yesterday at Indianapolis than in 1847. White Water river is reported seven and half feet higher than in 1847. The great corn fields along the bottoms of the Big Miami have suffered considerably, the flood in the corn fields being higher than the tallest corn stalks. Scores of miles of fences have been carried away.

The Sciota river at Columbus overflowed its banks, inundating the whole valley west of the river and north of the National road. A great many families have been driven from their homes, or compelled to seek shelter in the second stories of their dwellings.

Dispatches from Dayton say: The Miami tributaries are several inches higher than in 1848. The lowest part of Dayton is submerged. The village of McPhersonville, across the river, is ten feet under water. Enormous damage has been done in the valley to the corn fields.

Three men were drowned at Piqua, and one killed by the falling timbers of the bridge. The Ohio river here has risen ten feet during the last twenty-four hours.

Second Dispatch.

With the exception of slight showers this afternoon, the rain has ceased. There are indications, however, of more rain. It is estimated that twenty million bushels of corn have been destroyed by the freshet in the Miami bottoms. Reports from the Northwest represent the flood as general, with immense destruction of property. It will require four or five weeks to repair the Ohio & Mississippi railroad bridge across the Big Miami. In the meantime connection is made with Cincinnati by boats.

A dispatch from Indianapolis says the Bellefontaine and Peru and Indianapolis, are the only roads that have been running trains regularly from that city. The Jeffersonville Railroad bridge, four miles South of Indianapolis, is washed away and it is reported that the track at Edinburg and Columbus, Indiana, is submerged. The Columbus and Indianapolis Road is badly damaged. Four bridges are washed away between Indianapolis and Richmond. The Terre Haute and Indianapolis road is not so badly damaged. The regular St. Louis train went out on this road today. The Lafayette Road lost one bridge, but trains go through by transferring passengers. There have been no trains over the Cincinnati road since Tuesday. Heavy rains fell last night and this morning. Prospects more favorable now, with indications of clearing up.

INDIANAPOLIS, September 20.—The corn crop in the low lands along the rivers and streams in this section is greatly damaged by floods. Trains on all railroads centering here will run regularly to-morrow, except the Indiana Central and Louisville. Both the latter suffered severely. It will be several days before communication will be fully established. The weather is clearing up.

Another Display of Rebel Violence.

Attack on a Union Burial Party at Fredericksburg, Virginia.

WASHINGTON, September 19, 1866.

A row occurred at Fredericksburg, Virginia, last night, between members of the Union soldiers' burial party and a lot of ex-rebels.

There has been considerable feeling of late in that city as to the building of the monument in the Union burying ground on Mary Hights. Yesterday the burial party were paid off. Several of the corps being at the railroad depot at night, a little influenced by liquor, were branded by a crowd of citizens with unkind epithets; replying in usual complimentary style, the crowd set upon them and a desperate fight resulted, in which eight men were badly bruised. There were no weapons used. Intense excitement prevails. Col. Moore, Chief of the Burial Corps, left for that city.

NEW YORK SOLDIERS' UNION.

Closing Proceedings of Syracuse Convention—Soldiers' Mass Meeting.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., September 20.—The Soldiers' and Sailors' Mass Convention met at Shakespeare Hall, at noon to-day. Secretary of State, Major General Francis C. Barlow, called the Convention to order. The Convention was opened with prayer by Brevet Brigadier General Van Petten. Gen. Barlow nominated as temporary chairman Adjutant C. B. Lansing, of Auburn, who on assuming the chair delivered a sarcastic and stirring speech. He adverted to the threats of war and expressed the readiness of the loyal soldiers and sailors to maintain the right in the future as they had in the past. If war must come they are ready for it.

The wounded and disabled delegates of the State Union which met yesterday, were invited to seats upon the platform. A committee of three from each judicial district to nominate officers for a permanent organization was appointed.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., September 20.—The Convention of the Soldiers' and Sailors' State Union was called to order by President McKeon, at ten o'clock. The report of the committee on officers of the union for the ensuing year was as follows: President, Col. James B. McKeon; Vice Presidents, Col. E. B. Fowler, Maj. Putnam Field Clarke, Lieut. Col. E. Y. Morris, Capt. Geo. M. Ross, Lieut. Col. Armault Cameon, Capt. J. J. Randall, Lieut. Col. Geo. W. Warren, Col. D. J. Caw, Gen. Bradley Winslow, Adjutant E. B. Lansing, Capt. Charles Tracey, Gen. N. M. Craine, Giles H. Hilden, Maj. Jas. Lowe, Jr.

Col. J. J. Bramhall presented the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Executive Committee be required and empowered to appoint a sub-committee to solicit and receive contributions for the purpose of erecting suitable headstones over the graves of New York soldiers buried in our National Cemeteries, in substitution, and to replace the wooden ones now in use.

A vote of thanks was tendered the President, Colonel J. B. McKeon, and the Union adjourned sine die.

THE CLEVELAND FIZZLE.

The Cleveland correspondent of the Boston Advertiser says: Everybody says that the thing proved a fizzle. Access to the list of delegates was refused, and the exact number present cannot be given. No one puts the figure over 650, and this seems a high estimate. Western New York and Pennsylvania and the States of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, and Kentucky, furnished about three-fourths of the numbers. The proceedings have been wholly without enthusiasm, and the convention was managed by Lewis Campbell, Governor Bramlette and one or two other gentlemen distinguished as politicians, but hardly as soldiers. While some of the delegates were heartily opposed to the Congressional line of policy, it is notorious that many of them were here to signify their gratitude for offices to which they have recently been appointed, and to render themselves eligible for offices to which they desire to be appointed. The city was not the least moved by the convention, and gave it no welcome either of cheers, flags or crowds, and furnished scarcely five hundred persons to attend its proceedings.

GRASSHOPPER PLAGUE.—Mention has already been made of the grasshopper plague in Kansas. The Kansas City Journal is informed by John R. Griffin, Esq., who has just returned from Junction City, Kansas, that that section is overrun with grasshoppers. They come in swarms from the west so thick that the sun is hidden wherever they appear. They are faring sumptuously, stripping corn fields and eating up the grass, weeds and leaves on the trees. The Lawrence Tribune, we also notice, makes mention of their advent, and says their ravages have so far been confined to tracks twelve miles and wide three hundred long. Some idea of the vast quantity of these insects may be formed from the fact of their having got on the railroad track of the Union Pacific road in such numbers as to cause the wheels to slip on the rails. The freight train due at Wyandott evening before last was actually detained several hours in consequence of the grasshoppers having taken possession of the road.

A NEW DEAL OF THE CARDS.

An Important Movement on the Tapis.

A Washington dispatch says: "The latest movement in political strategy is developing itself, in an effort by combination of Democratic and Johnson Republican politicians to induce the President to modify his policy, so as to make it more nearly harmonize with the political creed which recent events have shown to be the unalterable fiat of the loyal masses in the North. The constantly accumulating evidence that the coming elections will result in a triumphant popular vindication of Congress has caused the shrewdest leaders of the Johnson party to cast about for some means of rectifying their position. Thurlow Weed and Edwin Croswell, of New York, where this movement originated, representing respectively the Conservative Republican and the old line Democratic wings of the Philadelphia Convention party, have been on here consulting with the President, and it is understood that they have urged him to accept the constitutional amendment, and come out in favor of its adoption; in which event the New York Herald and Times will continue to support him. Should nothing of this kind be done, the majority of the Republican indorsers of the Philadelphia Convention are represented as certain to return to their old organization. It is thought that Mr. Johnson, influenced by the absolute necessity of gaining enough members of Congress to protect the veto power, and to give his Democratic supporters a respectable minority during the remainder of his term of office, will secretly urge upon the Southern leaders the necessity of ratifying the amendment; and his known obstinacy of character confirms the belief among the best informed observers that he will not speedily recede from his position.

"In this connection it may be mentioned that from Mr. Johnson's frequent and excited reference to it in conversation, the idea of an attempt at his impeachment seems to be becoming something of a bugbear to the Presidential mind."

LATE NEWS ITEMS.

There were eight new cases of cholera, and three deaths from the same disease reported in New York Wednesday. Three new cases and four deaths from the same disease were reported in Brooklyn. Four fresh cases and one death from the disease were reported from the quarantine.

A meeting of Fenians was held in Troy Wednesday night, and was addressed by Gen. Gleason, of the Stephens' wing. Considerable excitement prevails among the circles in New York relative to the expected invasion of Canada. It is supposed, considering the reinforcements arriving in the provinces, that the movement would prove a disastrous failure. A pic-nic will be given at Jones's Woods, on Monday next, under the auspices of the Stephens' wing.

A New York dispatch of yesterday says: The Phoenix Bank defalcation has come up in our courts in a new shape. A suit has been commenced by the bank against the sureties of Jas. Earle, the assistant teller who was implicated with Jenkins in the defalcation, and who committed suicide after being arrested. Messrs. Hunt and Sayre, the defendants, were bondsmen for Earle in the sum of $8,000. A motion was made yesterday before Judge Sutherland by the defendants for an order compelling the bank to file a further bill of particulars to their claim. This motion was denied.

The Herald's Havana correspondence of the 15th, says: The house of Don Miguel Bon, in Santiago de Cuba, had failed, with liabilities at $247,000, and assets at only $57,000. There was more firmness in the sugar markets. Elections for President were to commence in Nicaragua in November. No government has yet been installed in St. Domingo, and that little republic is given up to the disorders attendant on a state of anarchy. Hayti is in the same condition. Outlaws overrun the country, and horrible crimes are committed with impunity.

The Herald's Panama correspondent says: Several of the Columbian State authorities had threatened to resist the enforcement of Mosquera's orders, and domestic trouble was anticipated. Favorable concessions had been granted by the Columbian Government to the projected railroad across the Isthmus. Montero, the deposed Admiral of the Peruvian navy, was still in custody. Salcido, the Chilian commander having charge of the navies of both powers, and Tucker, the ex-rebel, who was appointed to supercede Montero, having a subordinate command under him.

The Herald's City of Mexico and Vera Cruz correspondent writing under date of September 1st, says: Maximilian had received a dispatch from some person unknown, saying that all was useless. On the strength of this, rumors are prevalent that Maximilian is a prisoner to Bazaine, that he wishes to go to Europe, and that the Marshal will not let him, and others equally wild. There is no doubt that there is a difference between him and the French. The citizens living near Vera Cruz are removing inside the city wall for protection, and fortifications are being constructed. It is reported in the capital that Bazaine and Dano are to leave on the next packet. Madame Escondon has presented a long memorial asking the release of her husband, who is charged with heavy speculations on the Imperial Government.

A Washington dispatch says: The President has determined to make a clean sweep of all the office-holders who are opposed to his policy. No secret is made of this programme, and the fact has set his opponents to work devising a scheme to circumvent the President and punish those who accept positions. When Congress reassembles, instead of disputing in regard to the confirmations of the appointments, a bill will be introduced and carried through, cutting down the fees of all the federal offices, and requiring the office-holders to forward all perquisites to the Treasury. It is believed by the authors of this measure that it will render most of the offices worthless as money-making concerns, while the legislation itself will give the party an opportunity to go before the people as pledged to retrenchment and reform.

The opinion of the Attorney General of the United States, Mr. Stanbery, in regard to the power of the President, where appointments to office have been made in the recess prior to the last session of the Senate, and there was a failure during the session to make a permanent appointment, either by the refusal of the Senate to confirm the nominee or a failure to act on the nomination or other cause, to make a temporary appointment in the present recess, is published. In the discussion of the subject, the Attorney General takes up the general question whether the President can fill up a vacancy in the recess which existed in the prior session. After a review of the precedents established since the foundation of the Government, and an examination of the Constitution and existing laws on the subject, he arrives at the affirmative proposition, and consequently of the original question submitted to him.

General Geary and Hon. John Cessna addressed a large and enthusiastic meeting at Gettysburg on Tuesday.

The mass meeting at Chambersburg on Monday was a great affair, both in numbers and enthusiasm. Speeches were made by General Geary, Hons. Jno. Kunkle, Ed. McPherson, John Cessna and others. In the evening there was a grand torchlight procession. The Sixteenth Congressional District is perfectly safe, and will give General Koontz a rousing majority.

At the Union Republican Convention representing the counties of Northampton, Carbon, Monroe and Pike, held at Strasburg, September 13, 1866, General Wm. Lilly, of Carbon, was unanimously nominated as the Republican candidate for Congress from the Eleventh District. Daniel Van Auken, of Pike county, is his opponent.

The Beaver Argus gives the following as the probable majorities in the Twenty-sixth Congressional District: Lawrence's majorities—Lawrence, 2,000; Beaver, 1,000; Washington, 500. Total, 3,500. Montgomery's majorities—Greene, 1,500. Lawrence's majority in the District, 2,000. This estimate is predicated upon the present state of facts, and the popular feeling: and if Andy Johnson could be kept upon the stump for a week or two longer, the result would be much heavier in our favor.

Senator Lowry of Erie, Col. Rodgers, of Franklin, and Col. Montgomery, of Mississippi, addressed a large Union meeting in Pithole on Monday afternoon.

A grand mass meeting of Union men will be held in Indiana on Tuesday next, and a large turn out is expected. Gen. Geary, Governor Curtin and others are expected to be present.

Mr. Edward J. Mills has been appointed Postmaster at Ebensburg, vice Maj. John Thompson, removed. The latter supports the reconstruction policy of Congress—the former that of the President. Hence the change.

A grand Union rally will be held at Mt. Pleasant, Westmoreland county, the birthplace of General Geary, next Thursday, Sept. 27th, at 10 o'clock. Gen. Geary, Gov. Curtin, Hon. Galusha A. Grow, John Scott, John M. Kirkpatrick, Esq., and others will be present.

Dr. Bellows on the Crisis.

Rev. Dr. Bellows, of New York, who for some months has been suspected of a leaning toward the policy of President Johnson, in his sermon on Sunday came out firmly in favor of Congress. He said:

His vacation had been haunted with the spectre of this fearful hypothesis—a horrid, desperate struggle between even numbers, for the control of our national policy, and the possession, perhaps, of the Government itself. Thank God! the glorious news from Vermont and Maine, so soon to be echoed from Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, has exorcised this frightful ghost, and shown us that the people are sound at the core—will not bow the knee unto Baal, intend to support their insulted and patient Congress, and to wait their own safe and prudent time for allowing their late traitorous foes to come into our political sanctuary and officiate as fellow-priests at the altar sacred to liberty.

RICHMOND OPINION OF GRANT.—The President's papers in Maryland and the North sometimes claim General Grant as among his supporters. The Southern papers are more truthful, acknowledge that there is no hope of securing his apostacy from the principles for which he fought, and abuse him roundly, as the Richmond Examiner, thus: If a tyrant needed a tool, he would find him in Grant. Grant is a fool, but he is a vicious one who is cunning for mischief. He is as vain as he is foolish, and as cruel as he is vain. "His hopes and wishes" do not care a bawbee for the "masses," whether loyal or otherwise. All he knows of masses is of masses of soldiers that are to be hurled against each other for destruction. Heaven grant us some respite from Grant.

A SOUTHERN OPINION.—The Augusta (Ga.) Constitutionalist expresses the following opinion: "At the bar of the Great Eternal the South can stand this day, as ever, unspotted with any valid charge, and in this belief, for which we have essayed to give some humble reason, we close, as we began, by saying that the best friend the freedman has on earth is the Southern man."

MORRISSEY and his friends give as a professional reason for supporting the President that he keeps the biggest policy shop in the country.

Lengthy Interview with the President.

Jeff. Davis's Trial in October.

Pennsylvanians After Crumbs.

No Payment of Bounties Yet.

$96,000 000 Gold in the Treasury.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial.

WASHINGTON, September 20, 1866.

The White House.

General Grant and Secretary Stanton had an interview with the President to-day, lasting over two hours.

Secretary Stanton.

The demand made on the President by the Irish delegation on Tuesday, has given rise to the rumor that Secretary Stanton intends resigning.

Jeff. Davis.

The Adjutant General and District Attorney Chandler, of Virginia, have under consideration to-day the trial of Jeff. Davis at the October term. Nothing positive is known as to the conclusion arrived at, and the general impression seems to be that it will be postponed. In the meantime, Bishop Greene has arrived here to urge the President to release Davis on bail. The Bishop has lately had an interview with Davis.

After their Bread and Butter.

Several Pennsylvania delegates were at the White House to-day securing the removal of office-holders in that State. In some instances rival delegates have arrived, and the contest between them has become quite spirited. Several removal of Collectors and Assessors of Internal Revenue were made to-day.

Postmasters Appointed.

The following Western postmasters were appointed: At Macomb, Illinois, J. L. Lyman; Elgin, Illinois, Johnathan Kimball; Genesee Illinois, W. P. Cook.

Payment of Bounties.

The statement that preparations are being made to commence the payment of the bounties authorized by Congress, is utterly without foundation. No action has been taken in the matter either by the War or Treasury Departments, nor is there any likelihood that any movement in the matter will take place until after the meeting of Congress.

Gold in Treasury.

There is now in the Treasury nearly eighty-six millions of dollars in gold.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 20.

MEXICAN SUCCESSES.

Mr. Romero, the Mexican minister, received to-day dispatches from Vera Cruz, via New Orleans, containing the following news:

The City of Hueplotitlan, in the State of Oexaca, was taken by the Mexicans under Gen. Jiquerosa, on the 12th ult. The Austrians had also lost the city of Tacopoastla, in the State of Puebla. Tuspan, a port on the coast north of Vera Cruz, was also taken by the Liberals. The report of the occupation of San Luis Potosi by the Mexicans is confirmed.

SOLDIERS' BOUNTIES.

There is no prospect of the immediate payment of the bounties authorized by Congress at the late session. It is estimated that about forty thousand claims are on file, with that number increased at the rate of four or five hundred per day.

UNIFORM OF GENS. GRANT AND SHERMAN.

An official army order has been issued, prescribing the uniform of the General and Lieut. General, as follows: For the General the same as for a Major General, except that on the coat there shall be two rows of twelve buttons each on the breast, placed by fours, and on the shoulder straps and epaulets four silver stars. For the Lieutenant General the same as for a Major General, except that on the shoulder and epaulets there shall be three silver stars.

REVENUE APPOINTMENTS.

The following Internal Revenue appointments have been made since the 18th inst.: Jesse J. Alexander, Collector of the Seventh District, Indiana; Frank Baker, Assessor, Ninth District, Ohio; Andrew S. Halliday, Assessor, Nebraska; Ephraim Williams, Collector, Fourth, Wisconsin; J. G. Knight, Assessor, Third District, Missouri; Chas. O. Calkins, Collector Second District, Wisconsin; Sanford Jurned, Collector Fourth District, Iowa; Sylvester S. Main, Collector Second District, Illinois, J. THE WORLD'S MISTAKE.

The Times of this morning editorially says:—If the World has labored under the delusion that Mr. Raymond was pledged by the action of the Albany Convention in any way, we congratulate it on having discovered its mistake.

REPUBLICAN MEETING IN NEW JERSEY.

NEW YORK, September 20.—A meeting was held at Patterson, New Jersey, last evening, which was addressed by John Minor Botts, in which he attacked the policy of the President, favoring his impeachment, and advocating the adoption of the Constitutional amendment. He thought that each State should settle the question of negro suffrage for itself.

THE SOUTHERN LOYALISTS.

Their Enthusiastic Reception at Erie and Cleveland—Governor Brownlow Seriously Ill.

ERIE, PA., September 20.—A part of the Southern Loyalist party arrived this morning and addressed a large meeting. Governor Brownlow was very ill, and failed in an attempt to speak at the depot. He was so weak as to require assistance to stand, and passed directly on to Cleveland. The rest of the party arrived this evening, and all passed on under charge of a reception committee from Cleveland, headed by Mayor Chapin. At Cincinnati, Ashtabula, and Painesville, large crowds greeted the loyalists with cheers and bonfires.

CLEVELAND, September 20, 8 P. M.—The train arrived in a pelting rain. The party was met by an immense crowd and escorted to the hotel by bands of music, transparencies, and a torchlight procession, amid fireworks and shoutings. A meeting is arranged for to-morrow, which promises to be a large one.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

Cable Across St. Lawrence Successfully Laid.

ASPY BAY, Thursday evening, Sept. 20.

To D. CRAIG, General Agent Associated Press, New York—I arrived here this afternoon. The cable across the Gulf of St. Lawrence was successfully completed this evening. I leave to-morrow to recover a few miles of cable lost in the Gulf during the gale of Monday, and then proceed in the Midway to Picton for coal, and afterwards go to lay the cable across the Straits of Northumberland. The steamer Terrible is to accompany us. All well.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

Terrible Fight Between the Allies and Paraguayans—4,200 Allies Killed and Wounded—The Coffee Crop.

NEW YORK, September 20.—The steamer America brings Rio de Janerio papers to August 25th. Advices from the Platte report fighting of a most stubborn and sanguinary nature on the 16th and 18th of July, causing a loss of 4,200 killed and wounded in the allied armies, and an approximate amount in the Paraguayan army, the latter fighting chiefly within intrenchments and consequently losing less.

The sales of coffee at Rio for the fortnight were 85,000 bags at an advance of 200a300 ries per roba on the finest grades. Stock is reduced to 40,000 bags much of which is inferior. The new crop is estimated at 2,500,000 bags.

The Murderer of Mrs. Miller.

PHILADELPHIA, September 20.—The police believe they are on the track of the murderer of Mrs. Miller. He is supposed to be Gottleib Miller, a miserable pauper, whose left side is paralyzed, causing him to walk slowly with the aid of a heavy stick. His father formerly owned the house where the deceased lived, and Gottleib was well acquainted with the locality. He had been in the habit of visiting the house, and the deceased was kind to him, frequently giving him his victuals.

Cholera Abating in Nashville.

NASHVILLE, September 20.—The cholera deaths the past twenty-four hours were nineteen. Physicians pronounce the epidemic declining.

Heavy rains fell all day. Weather cold.

THE SOUTH AMERICAN WAR.

THE LATE GREAT BATTLE.

PARTICULARS OF THE FIGHT.

NEW YORK, September 20.—The following are the particulars of the great battle between the Paraguayans and the allies on the Platte on the 16th and 18th of July: The affair arose from a determination of the allies to dislodge the Paraguayans from the position they were fortifying on a hill, which would have enabled them to endanger the allied left and rear. The Paraguayans ware surprised and driven out at daybreak on the 16th by a brigade of Brazilians after a short fight. The victors then advanced to the assault of the Paraguayans' works in the rear, but were received with such a heavy fire that they were forced to abandon the attempt, and confine themselves to the defense of the works they had taken. This was successfully done, notwithstanding two fierce attacks were made by the Paraguayans, and a storm of missiles was poured on the ground. The allies suffered considerable loss, and the troops under fire were relieved several times during the day.

The next day passed without fighting, but a reconnoissance made to uncover the Paraguayans movements and works, was changed into a general assault of the next line of the Paraguayan fortifications, which was carried, but recovered and again retaken, but after very heavy fighting, which involved almost all the forces on both sides, the allied commanders recognized that success in that direction would be too dearly bought, and their troops were recalled, retiring in good order without being pursued. The Paraguayans, however, made a dash with cavalry on the Argentine flank on the right but were repulsed and fighting ceased on both sides.

The work captured on the 15th remains in possession of the allies. This was strengthened with heavy cannon and his likely to be of great service to the allies. The Paraganyans continued up to the 18th to send down torpedoes and on the 14th and 15th two explosions occurred son ear the leading vessel of the allied fleet as to shake her severely; a boat was blown up and eight persons killed.

The second Brazilian army, 9,000 strong, under Ponto Algrel, had been incorporated with the allied forces. Two or three thousand convalescents had also joined. Further reinforcements have also been demanded and expected from Brazil and the Argentine provinces. It is expected that the Argentine Congress will increase the export and import duties. A Brazilian transport steamer had been lost in the Platte; all the people on board of her were saved, as well as 150 000 sovereigns.

There was a terrible fire in Rue da Turtanda, Rio de Janeiro, on the 23d of August, owing to the explosion of some powder kept on the premises. Three persons were killed and several seriously wounded.

Coffee at Rio was more active; sales for the fortnight 85,000 bags at an advance of 200 and 300 Reis per arroba on the finest grades. Supplies from the interior limited, and the stock reduced to 40,000 bags, a large portion of which is inferior. The new crop is estimated at 2,500,000 bags. The market closed quiet at the following quotations: Washed, 7600 and 9200; superior, 7200 and 7600; good firsts, 6800 and 6900.

TELEGRAPHIC POLITICAL.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE.

ALBANY, September 20.—The Democratic Central Committee met in this to-day, and organized by selecting Samuel J. Tilden, of New York, as Chairman, and Peter Cagger, of Albany, for Secretary.

KANSAS NATIONAL UNION STATE TICKET.

TOPEKA, Kansas, September 20.—The National Union State Convention met here to-day and nominated the following ticket: Governor, J. S. McDowell, Leavenworth; Lieutenant Governor, Major James R. McClure, Davis county; Secretary of State, Col. McQuigg; Auditor, N. Goss; Treasurer, Colonel Walker; Attorney General, Ross Burns; Superintendent of Public Instruction, Jos. H. Bond; Chief Justice, Nelson Cobb; Congress, Gen. J. W. Blair, of Ft. Scott.

All the nominees, except Goss and Cobb, are Republicans. The Conventions passed resolutions that the real interests of the United States, and this State require that none but loyal men should hold places of trust and power in Government, and therefore the Federal officials of this State who slander the Administration and abuse the civil Government, should be removed and their places filled with loyal men.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., September 20.—The Convention reassembled at three o'clock, P. M., General John Cochrane was made permanent President. A series of strong radical resolutions were adopted with great enthusiasm, and also a long address reported by General Martindale. The renomination of Gov. Fenton was strongly indorsed.

In the evening speeches were made by Lieut. Governor Alvord, Senator Pomeroy, of Kansas, Colonel J. C. Jackson and General Ben Bruce. Delegates at large from the State were appointed to attend the Pittsburgh Convention on the 25th of September. A committee was also appointed to call further meetings.

JEFF. DAVIS.

He Has No Hope of Being Released.

FORTRESS MONROE, September 18.—Bishop Greene, of Mississippi, and John W. Kelly, an Ex-German Catholic minister, in an interview with Jeff. Davis, informed him they would make an appeal to President Johnson for his release, if he had no objection, to which Mr. Davis responded that he thanked them for their kind intentions, and assured them that such efforts would be futile, as his counsel had made similar efforts, and were told he must be tried by military and civil courts upon charges made against him.

North Carolina Union Convention—Constitutional Amendments Endorsed.

RALEIGH, N. C., September 20.—At a State meeting of unconditional Union men of North Carolina, held in Raleigh to-day, Hon. Alfred Dockery was nominated for Governor. The Constitutional amendment was unanimously endorsed. It is the only issue between the two parties of the State. Ex-Governor Holden, who was chosen President, delivered an able address, heartily indorsing the candidate and the platform. Letters from distinguished Union men were received from different parts of the State, pledging their support to the movement. Mr. Dockery stands boldly on the Howard amendment, and the whole basis, which Governor Holden says will give him a large majority in the western part of the State, and with the vote of the rest of the State may elect him.

The Duty on Russian Wool.

WASHINGTON, September 20.—The Secretary of the Treasury has decided that the dutiable value of Prussian wool sent from England must be determined by the value thereof in the principal markets of England at the time of exportation, adding the commissions, in no case less than two and one-half per centum, and actual charges incurred in England, including transportation, shipment and transhipment.

River and Weather at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, September 20.—Another heavy rain fell last night. It is showery to-day. The weather is growing cold this evening. River rising rapidly. Barometer 29.50 and rising. Railroad communication is temporarily suspended by the floods.

MASS MEETING IN CANTON, OHIO.

Three Thousand People in Council—A Regiment Coming to Pittsburgh.

A large Mass Convention of the citizens of Stark county, was held at Canton, yesterday, and although many were prevented from attending on account of the inclemency of the weather, who would otherwise have been there the meeting was a grand success. As early as eight o'clock in the morning, wagons, bearing eight or ten men, ("Boys in Blue") were seen entering the town from every direction, and before eleven o'clock, although the pitiless rain poured down in torrents, many hundreds of gallant soldiers gathered in from the adjoining townships, and assembled together to make preparations for the great fight of the next three weeks.

Colonel Briggs was called to the Chair and presided over the meeting, Captain Leiter and Lieutenant Giddinger acting as Secretaries. A telling speech was made by General C. F. Manderson, who sent terror into the hearts of the Copperhead party of that section, and encouraged his war tried comrades to "vote as they fought." He urged upon them that the contest that they were now engaged in was fully equal to any they had in the fields of the South. He was followed by Col. S. Myers, whose speech was brief and spicy, and elicited much applause from his auditors.

After a short recess the meeting again assembled, having added many recruits to its ranks, and resolutions were adopted declaring for the support of the Union party, and denouncing in bitter terms, Copper-Johnsonism. Of the resolutions we give the following:

Resolved, That the attempt of President Johnson to purchase the support of Union soldiers for his treacherous policy by offers of office to those who will endorse it, and the persecution and removal of all who reject it, is a standing insult to the American soldier and merits our unmitigated scorn and contempt.

Resolved, That the effort of the officers who called the Cleveland Convention, (many of whom are evidently influenced chiefly by a love of good appointments,) to commit the soldiers to the policy of making treason powerful and respectable, merits and will receive the rebuke of nine-tenths of their comrades in arms, and we will tell these gentlemen that though they might lead us against our country's enemies, we cannot follow them in a crusade against its friends.

Resolved, That the Convention at Pittsburgh meets with our most cordial approval.

The meeting then made arrangements for sending a delegation to Pittsburgh, and it is estimated that at least a full regiment of Boys in Blue will go from that county.

The meeting adjourned to meet outside of the building, to hear Major General R. C. Schenck, whose appearance on the stand caused vociferous cheering. General Schenck entertained the meeting with a speech of two hours in length, and received frequent applause. He spoke at length on the certain destruction the Johnson policy would bring on the country, and handled his (Johnson's) followers in a manner that was anything but pleasant to them.

General Eckley, the candidate for Congress in that, the 17th District, was the next speaker. His speech was short, but to the point. General Eckley will receive at least 5,000 majority in his district.

MORE HUGGING.—It has been in all sober earnest proposed that Generals Lee and Grant enter the Cleveland (Federal) Soldiers and Sailor's Convention arm in-arm, whereby, it is hoped, the Convention may be made a great success, harmony be subserved, the Radicals beaten, everybody South get into Congress, each nigger lose his bureau, and cotton go up to fifty cents in gold.

We are opposed to this be-hugging. It's unrepublican for one man to hug another in a free country, full of pretty women.—Augusta Constitutionalist.

GENERAL FREMONT.—The Tribune says: Gen. John C. Fremont doesn't train in the Custer-Steedman crowd that met yesterday at Cleveland—not exactly. The publication of his name as one of the backers of that movement is not more impudent than some of their other appropriations, (Gen. McAllister, for instance,) but is little more amusing. If General Fremont's business would allow him to attend either Convention, we need not say that he would respond to his name at Pittsburgh.

The Great Convention of Soldiers and Sailors.

MASSACHUSETTS COMING.

The Universality of the Response.

The soldiers and sailors of Massachusetts in State Convention, have appointed the following delegates to the Pittsburgh Convention:

Major-Generals N. P. Banks, B. F. Butler, Charles Devens, Charles G. Loring, Charles J. Paine, E. W. Hinks; Brigadier Generals Henry S. Briggs, Robert Cowdin, P. R. Guiney, James Barnes, H. B. Sargeant, Wm. Cogswell, Edward N. Hallowell, J. C. Edmsnds, Wm. S. Lincoln, Stephen M. Wild, Jr., A. B. R. Sprague, Henry Wilson, Charles F. Walcott; Colonels W. H. Lounsbury, A. B. F. Pratt, Samuel C. Oliver, C. G. Rowell, Thomas H. Dundam, J. W. Hudson, J. W. Kimball, W. L. Clark, W. S. King; James L. Bates, —— Kinsman; Majors James Brown, Theron E. Hall, Wm. N. Meserve, M. J. McCafferty, J. W. Mahan, John W. Morrissey, U. Macoy, George W. Dutton; Captains Charles W. Hastings, E. M. Onion Chas. E. Doten, Joseph Hancock, Knott V. Martin, Charles J. Noyes, John A. Lynch, J. W. Le Barnes; Lieutenants A. F. Upton, Edward M. Cheney, George W. Andrews, Henry W. Wilson; Messrs. Francis J. Barton, John F. Brown, Wm. E. Lewis, Solomon Thomes, Charles J. O'Rielly, Rufus Smith.

During the proceedings Gen. Banks made a speech. After speaking at some length he said:

We must not forget that there are other great issues in which we are interested. They are presented in this call under which you assembled. It is for the preservation of the liberties of the country, the rights of the people, and the institutions planted by our fathers. The fruits of five years' hard fighting and universal suffering must not be lost. [Applause.] Here in Faneuil Hall, the soldiers and sailors of Massachusetts pledge it. Here, in the presence of the great fathers of the Commonwealth we renew the vows we have made heretofore; and we declare, in their name and for the myriads of our brethren who have fallen in battle, that the fruits of their sacrifices and victories shall never be lost to our land. [Loud applause.] We have a right, in the restoration of the government in the seceded, insurrectionary, or conquered States, to demand guaranties for the peace of the future; and among those guarantees I do not hesitate to say that two are indispensable—that prosperity and peace cannot be maintained until these are conceded. First, that the living soldiers and sailors shall have the right of ingress and egress, with the right to express their opinions upon all subjects connected with the government wherever the American flag floats. [Great applause.] And, second, that the bones of the heroes and martyrs of liberty that lie buried in the soil of every insurgent and rebel State shall sleep in peace and in honor where they fell. [Prolonged applause and cries of "Good."]

Fellow-citizens, soldiers and sailors—the cause of liberty, of equality, of justice, claims your attention everywhere. The platform upon which you go to the people embraces not only your rights but the rights of all classes, and the interests of the general government, as well as of the local constituencies which you represent. That platform is—equality of co-operation in the army, equality of rights in the councils of the nation [loud applause,] and equility of rights for the defenders of the country under the government, now and forever. [Renewed applause.] This issue avoids all party questions and embraces all the interests of this country. Upon this issue you go forth arrayed in the panoply of justice, with the assurance that victory and conquest are to be yours. Upon this issue you can challenge the support of all your associates in the army, in every State in the Union. You will rally hundreds of thousands who have done honor to our arms, and who yet live to maintain the rights and honor of the Government under Grant, Sheridan and Sherman. [Great Applause.] With this issue you can enter the confines of the insurgent States and challenge acquiescence and acknowledgment on the part of rebels in the justice of your claim. There is no voice in this country, of any class or of any section, that can complain of the claim you make, or deny the justice which is your right; and you have to raise upon your flag the motto which is yours, which none can deny you, to be assured of ultimate and complete victory.

In the Washington Chronicle is published the call for the Pittsburgh Convention signed by nearly seven solid columns of names of privates up to Major General. In addition to these, it is stated, that upwards of five thousand others have forwarded their approval of the call, and associations which embrace 500,000 soldiers as members, have adopted resolutions approving the Convention.

Hard Road to Travel.

Mr. Raymond's abandonment of the New York Democracy, and attempt to get back into the Republican fold, excites the ire of the New York News and the World. The latter accounts for this latest somersault thus:

"Mr. Raymond is editor of the Times, and the subscribers of that journal have been deserting by thousands and transferring their names to the Tribune, since Mr. Raymond fully committed himself to the Philadelphia. They would have equally deserted if the call of the Albany Convention had been issued jointly by the two Committees, instead of issued by one and indorsed by the other; have equally deserted if General Dix had been nominated instead of Mayor Hoffman; equally if the Republicans had one half, instead of one-third, of the names on the Central Committee. The thousands of new subscribers to the Tribune have not left the Times on any such trivial grounds as these. It was not the husk they objected to, but what was within the husk. It was not on account of any pretended unfairness to the conservative Republicans by the Albany Convention, that Mr. Raymond was turned out of the Republican National Committee, "like a ram out of a tulip preserve;" dismissed by his associates as an apostate and a renegade to "wander at his own sweet will" in devious and disconsolate paths where his fleece is torn off by brambles. He bleats piteously for the fold he deserted. He ought to be thankful for the circumstances of which he complains; for if these excuses for aiding the Fenton ticket were not at hand, he would be under the hard necessity of finding others."

The News tells Mr. Raymond and his friends that they are of no possible account—scouts them as Johnson office holders who do not even hold the balance of power:

"We are among those who never believed in affiliating with what are called Conservative Republicans, though we consented to act with them, supposing their motives to be unselfish and patriotic. We knew that their numbers and influence were of very little account, and did not even constitute a balance of power, except in the case of a very close equality of strength between parties. But we considered their help worth having, and desired to see all friends of a speedy restoration of the Union enrolled in the same ranks. The motives of this little clique are now become manifest. Their very modest idea was to get hold of the Democratic party and convert it to their own use; to supply its candidates and permit its members to vote for them.

The Democratic party of this State, at the last election for Governor, polled over three hundred and sixty thousand votes; the entire followers of Mr. Weed do not number five thousand in the whole State, and when we compare these figures, the extreme modesty of the old gentleman and his cab load of associates becomes really sublime. Yet, notwithstanding this disparity, the Democratic party gave the nomination of the Lieutenant Governor to their associates, and acted with the utmost liberality under the circumstances. But because they did not consent to nominate General Dix, a man who has been "everything by turns and nothing long," and who could not receive a united or hearty support in any strong Democratic district, the conservative Republicans will, according to the Times, "be quite likely to prefer taking their chances with the Radicals and vote for Fenton. Now, if such is their determination, let them not stand upon the order of their going, but go at once. But they cannot take their chances with the Radicals, for if they attempt to sneak back to the ranks of the latter, they would be about as welcome as a stray dog in a ten-pin alley. A little squad of office holders that talk Johnson and prefer taking their chances with his enemies will only weaken and injure any party that tolerates their fellowship. Two parties are all that can exist under a free government. The old Democratic party, rejuvenated by conforming to the requirements of new ideas, will "renew its youth like the eagle's," and receive the renewed confidence of the people when they have acquired sufficient calamitous experience by following blind guides. But even defeat is better in a fair fight than to confide in treacherous allies."

British and American Guns.

[From the London Times, Sept. 4.]

The Americans have enormous guns, and in great numbers. They have actually laid in thousands of fifteen-inch, and even twenty-inch cannon, while we have been slowly arriving at the model of a three hundred pounder. This progress they have accomplished simply by not waiting for perfection. The system pursued by the Americans in these matters was very frankly expressed by the Chief of the Ordnance Department in one of his last reports. Speaking of the Parrott guns, he said that the Department undoubtedly received information tending to condemn them, but that sometimes information arrived of a more favorable character, and that, at any rate, as they knew of no perfect gun, or of any gun more perfect than these, they should continue to manufacture and supply them till they heard of something better. That is exactly what the Americans did with their iron-clads, and what they do in all departments, and the consequence is that they have a most powerful force. Perhaps a force still more powerful may be discovered some day or other, but in the meantime they take care to close with something. We, on the other hand, should never have closed, either with a Parrott gun or a Monitor. We do not even venture upon cast-iron ordnance of any kind, though it is by contenting themselves with that method of manufacture that the Americans have obtained their present stock. We see the fault of this policy in our relative weakness at this moment. Had we been less fastidious, our iron-clad fleet must have been of three times its existing strength; but it is reasonable to believe that in the specimens we have we possess some of the finest and most powerful models afloat. The great mischief is, that in seeking for a perfection which is probably unattainable, we not only squander enormous sums of money, but leave ourselves without even those means of defence which, if not absolutely the best conceivable, would certainly be better than none.

THE NATIONAL CATHOLIC COUNCIL.—Eminent Catholic clergymen are already arriving in New York and other United States ports from the Pacific coast, to attend the Second National Catholic Council, which is to be held in Baltimore during October, and over which Archbishop Spalding has been delegated by the Pope to preside. The object of this Council is to regulate the discipline of the Church in this country, and to arrange some systematic plan for the education of Catholic youth. Forty-one bishops and other prelates, and one hundred priests, will take part in the deliberations.

THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—Mr. Stephen H. Phillips, of Salem, formerly Attorney-General of Massachusetts, has received and accepted an appointment as Attorney General in the government of the Sandwich Islands, with a salary of $5,000 a year in gold, and the privilege of practising in the Admiralty courts. From the character and attainments of Mr. Phillips, this appointment is regarded as an important advantage gained by the American interests in the islands.

RATHER A WIDE DIFFERENCE.—A Johnson-Democratic meeting was held at New York on Monday night. The World says there were one hundred thousand people at the meeting. The Times puts the number at twenty thousand! Both papers are favorable to the meeting.

CITY MATTERS.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY FAIR.

Bad Weather and Its Consequences—Representation of Pittsburgh Trade and Enterprise—Business Houses Worthy of Mention.

Wretched as the weather has been since the holding of the Fair—and it seems like fate that it should rain in the worst kind of a way whenever we do try to get up a Fair here—there has, nevertheless, been a far larger attendance than any one would have expected.

And, even if the attendance had not been encouraging, the exhibition of interesting specimens of art and manufacture would be sufficient to satisfy the most ardent expectations of those who expected to see what Allegheny county could do in the various branches of practical civilization and development.

We venture to say, that, under the discouraging and disadvantageous circumstances against which the managers of the Fair have had to contend, no better and more successful enterprise of the kind has ever obtained so large a measure of popular approval and support.

We continue our notices of the attractive features to be witnessed by those who have the courage to brave the elements and enjoy themselves by attending the Fair.

A HARDWARE TRIUMPH.

If there is any city in the country that should pride itself on the production of hardware it is Pittsburgh. This is the "Iron" City, and all fabrications, whereof Tubal Cain was the original artificer, may rightfully be expected to be produced here in the most perfect manner. They can be, and are! Messrs. Graff & Hugus, of 206 and 208 Liberty street, present to public notice at the Fair the most useful, best made and ornamentally devised cooking ranges and stoves that ever ingenuity of foundry men turned out. On the former, roasting, boiling, baking and every other way of preparing food can be accomplished quickly and in a style to please the most fastidious palate. With the latter, the most desirable temperature can always be made to permeate any house—whether the humble cottage, or the most extensive kind of hotel—at any season of the year.

WHEELER & WILSON'S SEWING MACHINES.

One cannot tire of speaking and writing about Wheeler & Wilson's sewing machines, of which Messrs. Sumner & Co., 27 Fifth street, make such a fine display in their beautiful pagoda. Lady visitors to the Fair will find this display one of the most attractive on the grounds, for the reason that the ladies always appreciate the useful and beautiful. These sewing machines have more improvements, make less noise and are much more speedy and simple in operation than any machine in market. They combine, in a remarkable degree, all the essentials of a first class machine, and are appreciated more highly in the household than the best piano made. Don't fail, when at the Fair, to see Sumner & Co.'s display of Sewing machines, or if not at the Fair, call at No. 27 Fifth street, where a choice assortment may be seen.

THE IRON CITY COLLEGE.

In Penmanship the specimens sent to the Fair from the Iron City College can fairly contend for the palm with any caligraphic efforts that ever were exhibited elsewhere. Some of them are miracles of artistic delicacy and skill, and reflect a degree of credit and renown upon the able executant, of whose hand they are the offspring, that cannot be too highly extolled. There are drawings done by him in ink that equal in finish the finest steel or stencilled engravings; there is lettering that has never been surpassed in the most elaborate lithographic plates; there is scroll and frame work that the most ingenious of designers might wish to see as the result of their own fancy. Yet this is only what the College gives as one of the evidences of ability employed in the management. It is still more celebrated as a school for comprehensive mercantile and scientific training, and may be regarded as one of the most valuable and important institutions of which Pittsburgh can boast.

OUR SILENT SERVANT.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe wrote a delightful little paper about the sewing machine, which was worthy to be printed in letters of gold. It was a gem; a prose poem; equal in fancy and felicity of language to rank with the best productions she has contributed to that best of juvenile magazines, "Our Young Folks." But the most glowing eulogy that she passed upon that most marvelous of modern mechanical inventions, was not more than was honestly deserved by the machine of which Carson & Brothers are general agents for this city. It is called the "Empire," and several splendid specimens are on exhibition at the Fair. Several charming experts in working these machines show to spectators the manner in which they can be operated.

SUN PICTURES.

Since the sun was made the slave of science—or in other words since the invention of photography—more improvements have been made in the business, and finer effects produced in this country than anywhere else in this world. Even here, in Pittsburgh, smoky as the atmosphere is, we produce some of the most splendid pictures that ever were obtained through solar agency. At Mr. W. H. Whitehead's, for instance, whose studio is at No. 70 Fifth street, some of the most exquisite effects in this special department of art, have been created, and Mr. Whitehead has wisely sent them to the Fair, so that the public generally can witness, judge of and appreciate them. More beautiful pictures have rarely, if ever, been seen.

PORCELAIN ENAMELED WARE.

Among the many curiosities that will attract the attention of a careful housewife is the porcelain enameled ware, exhibited by Messrs. Alborn, Hartje, Wiley & Co. This ware has been tested, and found to be the best in the market, and the firm, which represents several of our most wealthy and prominent citizens, has purchased two and one half acres of ground at Herr's Island, where they design erecting a new and complete establishment at a cost of $80,000. Heretofore it has been customary for our merchants to receive this class of ware from the Eastern cities, but with the enterprise consonant with the increasing enterprise of Pittsburgh, an effort will now be made to confine this large and constantly increasing branch of business within our own limits. We anticipate for the new firm abundant success, and would advise our readers not to overlook the small though neat collection on exhibition. We will allude more fully to this branch of industry hereafter.

THE REFRESHMENT QUESTION.

Before closing our brief notice of the Fair, we cannot with justice fail to make particular mention of the Messrs. Ludwig & Wiggins eating establishment. These gentlemen have leased a large building on the eastern portion of the grounds, and have made extensive preparations for accommodating a large number of guests with refreshments. Their bill of fare embraces everything that the market affords, which is prepared in the best style of the culinary art, and the prices are as low as at any city house. The headquarters of the firm are at the corner of Grant and Second streets, where they have recently created one of the best restaurants in the city. The manner in which they carry on their establishment on the ground cannot fail to give general satisfaction.

MEETING OF THE MANAGERS.

At three o'clock, the Board of Managers met, and was organized by calling Moses Chess, Esq., to the chair, and appointing Guyan M. Irwin, of the DAILY COMMERCIAL, Secretary.

After the business of the Board had been stated, John F. Jennings, Esq., moved that the awards of the Committees be made at the regular time, as heretofore stated, and that the Fair be continued for the benefit of the Society, until Monday evening next. The motion, after considerable debate, was agreed to.

Wm. S. Haven, Esq., moved that persons have liberty to enter goods during the continuance of the Fair without charge, but that those introducing stock be assessed with the entrance fee. Carried.

A resolution inviting Gen. B. F. Butler and Hon. Heister Clymer to visit the Fair, and deliver addresses on agricultural subjects, was adopted, but, after some discussion, the matter was laid on the table.

On motion, Colonel Harris, of the Ohio Farmer, who had been invited to deliver an address on "Sheep Husbandry," was requested to choose the subject for his address, owing to the absence of any cultivators of wool. The Colonel stated that under the circumstances, he would deliver a lecture on general subject of agriculture, this morning at eleven o'clock.

The Board then adjourned to meet this morning on the grounds at eleven o'clock.

Republican Mass Meeting.

A meeting of the Union Republicans of Jefferson, Upper St. Clair and Snowden townships was held last evening. Thomas Kiddoo was called to the chair, Messrs. S. J. Chamberlain, John O. Neill, James Espy, David Heyber, William Wilson, Sr., Isaac King and John Maist, Sr., appointed Vice Presidents, and Messrs. Joseph Pearce, Captain John Gilfellan and John Wilson selected as Secretaries.

Speeches were delivered by several gentlemen present, after which the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we heartily indorse and approve the nomination of Major General John W. Geary for Governor, and the Union Republican County ticket, and will give to both our undivided support.

Resolved, That the Congressional plan of reconstruction is just, proper and right, and it is the duty of the American people to sustain it.

Resolved, That the Democratic party is now, as it has been since 1860, opposed to liberty and human progress, and finds its natural allies in those who so lately were engaged in rebellion against the Government.

Resolved, That any party that makes common cause with traitors and rebels is unworthy of the confidence of the American people.

Resolved, That one way of punishing traitors and making treason odious is to defeat the Democratic party and any candidates it may support.

Resolved, That the President, by his treachery to the party that elected him, and his unfaithfulness to his own declarations, having determined upon making treason honorable and upon rewarding traitors, we will do our part toward discharging the duty he has proved recreant to, by defeating the party in which he, and all other traitors, find a congenial refuge.

Public Amusements.

THEATRE.—A good audience assembled last evening to witness the performance of the "Naiad Queen," and all were delighted. Ettie Henderson is a splendid commander, and as "Lurline" is particularly pleasing. The "Naiad Queen" will be performed again to-night, and all who can should see it.

NEW OPERA HOUSE.—Mrs. Barney Williams, the charming Yankee girl, will have a benefit this evening, and an exceedingly attractive bill is presented for the occasion. Mrs. Williams is an accomplished lady and most talented actress, and deserves to be remembered this evening by her hosts of admirers in this city. A glance at the bill will suffice to prove its attractiveness.

VARIETIES.—The patrons of this popular place of amusement will find a rare bill presented there this evening.

ATTENTION CONTRACTORS.—The attention of contractors is directed to the advertisement of W. Milnor Roberts, Esq., Engineer of the Ohio River Improvement, soliciting proposals for furnishing rock immediately.

JOHNSON MEETING IN ALLEGHENY.—The Johnsonites of Allegheny held a meeting last night in the Diamond Square. Speeches were made by Marshall Swartzwelder and others.

Resolved, That we fully indorse the resolutions passed at the conventions of soldiers and sailors held in Pittsburgh, on the 7th of September, inst.

Union Republican Demonstration.

An immense Union Republican meeting was held last evening at City Hall. About seven o'clock the large gathering was called to order by Sheriff Stewart, upon whose motion the following officers were selected:

President—C. D. Brigham, Esq.

Vice Presidents—Colonel Edwin J. Allen, Col. Samuel Elder, Dr. Wm. J. Gilmore, Henry Moreland, Esq., David Lewis, Esq., Captain Thomas Rees, Henry Tatnall, Esq., General Thomas Rose, Captain James Vick, Colonel D. W. Megraw, Colonel J. B. Copeland, John McDonald, Esq., Colonel Wm. Phillips, Colonel Jno. McD. Crossan, Col. M. Beltzhoover, Capt. S. H. Baird, Charles Hartman, Wm. Wills, John F. Dravo, Capt. R. B. Humes, Maj. Wm. F. Irvin, L. F. A. Falnauber, Dr. D. W. Lewis, and Mr. Trump, of Canton, Ohio. The reporters of the Press were designated as Secretaries.

Mr. Brigham, upon assuming the duties of the chair, acknowledged the compliment in a few appropriate remarks, after which he introduced Hon. Samuel A. Purviance, who delivered an able and logical address. He was followed by Hon. Hon. Galusha A. Grow, who reviewed the political situation, severely criticising the hostile attitude assumed by the President toward Congress and the loyal people of the North, and arguing that the real safety of the nation depended on the steadfast hold to their principles which all real patriots seemed in the present crisis to have determined to maintain.

Mr. J. W. Pope, the popular and melodious vocalist, was in attendance, and rendered a number of songs in a truly artistic manner.

The meeting adjourned at a late hour with cheers for the Union nominees.

DURING the late tour Grant and Farragut had a deal of merriment at some of the stations. At several places the ladies kissed the naval hero but only shook hands with the unconditional old chieftain. "This," said the General, "is easily explained. The Admiral is so old that the young ladies don't hesitate to kiss him, but they don't like to take such liberties with a young man like me."

WENDELL PHILLIPS has received the nomination for Congress in the Third Massachusetts District, by a delegate convention of workingmen. There is a probability that the Republican Convention will ratify this action, and even if they do not the workingmen will still vote for Mr. Phillips.

DEMOCRATS AND REPUBLICANS IN THE COALITION.

The Democratic branch of the Coalition party is the most consistent part of it. With reference to the prominent and momentous questions that have agitated the country for the past years, the Democrats retain substantially their former opinions, and occupy their former position. The party name, it is true, has, after falling into great disrepute, been laid aside by contract with the few distinguished Republicans who have joined the coalition. But although the name has been put under a bushel, the policy of the Democrats is placed in a candlestick, and all the light the coalition party has comes from that source. The Republican element, although it includes some conspicuous characters, is of too inconsiderable extent to sway or perceptibly modify the purposes or movements of the larger elements in the coalition. Besides, a large share of the Republicans who have gone into the movement being drawn by the strong attractions of the "main chance," readily assimilate to the common sentiment that animates the body.

The position, purposes and tone of the coalition, demonstrate its consistency, and in fact, its identity, with the Democratic party, as it was after its loyal elements had withdrawn from it. The Democracy, after this elimination, was well and truly represented by the Chicago Convention of 1864, and a glance of comparison will show the close resemblance of the two.

1. The coalition takes the ground of direct antagonism to the Republican Union party, that has been and is still distinctively arrayed against treason and rebellion.

2. It employs against the Republican party the same style of vituperation, as the Democracy did, charging it with savage, bloodthirsty propensities, with hostility to the Union, with insatiable malignity, &c., &c. It transfers to Congress the abusive epithets which were heaped mountain high on the head of Mr. LINCOLN and for the same reason.

3. It is equally apologetic for the rebellious temper of the South, it pleads in the same strain for Southern rights, and ignores, with the same dash of oblivion, the crime of rebellion formerly committed, and still gloried in by the leaders of the Southern people.

4. It indulges in the same strain of deceptive speech as to the causes of the war, and indicates the same disposition towards the unhappy and oppressed Union people, white and black, of the Southern States.

5. Under menaces, it demands of the Union and loyal Republican party the surrender to the South of all that it claims, and political reconciliation at any price. It threatens, if the loyal Union people shall elect their representatives to the next Congress, to revolutionize the Government by the suppression of the legislative department and the absorption of all power by the Executive.

Such is the coalition party and its ways, and such is its close resemblance, both in its constituents and aspirations, to the Democratic party of 1864, after the loyal Democrats had left it in disgust. The Democratic branch of the coalition is consistent with itself and true to its more recent record. And so it is with the Southern branch of the coalition. Of the few Republicans who have gone into it, the conspicuous ones have ruined both it and themselves by their wild and extravagant over-acting of their parts, and the obscure ones have lost more respect than they have gained, by changing their positions, not to say principles, under the auspices of Executive patronage. And both the conspicuous and the obscure, as things are going all over the country, appear destined to receive infinitely less honor and advantage in their new relations than they have sacrificed by the abandonment of their old ones.

THE CLEVELAND ADDRESS.

As the grand rally of Union soldiers in Pittsburgh is near at hand, after which the recent Convention in Cleveland, with its doings and sayings, will be no more heard of, we seize the opportunity before it passes away, to notice the address issued by the Cleveland meeting.

It indulges in complaints of the delay of reconstruction, and pronounces the measures of Congress devised for that purpose a flat and certain failure. This is in the strain of the famous Chicago Convention, which declared the war a failure, because it had not reached results which it was then approaching and afterwards happily accomplished.

The address, like all documents of the coalition party, indulges largely in apologies for the late rebels. This is quite consistent with the convention's giving "three cheers for NED FORREST," the genius of murder, who presided over the massacre of prisoners at Fort Pillow. A letter signed by eight names was received by the Convention. FORREST's infamous name was the third, but the Convention instinctively selected him as the chief object of admiration as the representative man, gave three cheers for NED FORREST, and in answering the letter placed FORREST's name first in the address.

The only other thing worth notice in the address of the convention is, that it places the argument against the Congressional plan of reconstruction, that is, the constitutional amendment, entirely on the ground that the South will not adopt it. This argument is, that the Southern States will not do what is just and right, therefore we must surrender to their will, and be satisfied with what is unjust and wrong. This is a queer way of reasoning for soldiers, politicians or moralists. We thought our soldiers had got familiar with that sort of braggadocia during the war, when the rebels declared that they would never surrender, never submit. The tradition of the "last ditch" and "the last man" appears to have been forgotten already.

The general aspect of weakness belonging to the Cleveland convention, evinces itself in the Address. Neither the one nor the other will have much weight with the great body of our soldier citizens. Their neglect of the convention is the best evidence of their indifference to its proceedings. The true soldiers of the Union are not of the class who give three cheers for FORREST, the wholesale murderer of surrendered Union soldiers.

MR. LINCOLN'S IDEA OF THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PEOPLE.

It is not uncommon for demagogues and ambitious men, for their own interest and advancement, to address liberal flatteries to the people, and to make large professions of devotion to them. But it is not difficult, usually, to detect the trickery of such a course, by the inconsistency of the actions with the professions. Mr. LINCOLN made far less parade of his devotion to the constitution and people than his successor has done, but his history is infinitely more rich with measures directly adapted to maintain the Constitution and honor the people. At Gettysburg, for example, Mr. LINCOLN, surrounded by the graves of the heroic men who had fallen there and on the ground where their blood-bought victory had been achieved, recognized, as the highest honor that could be done to their deeds and their memory, the honest, earnest prosecution of the work in which they died. The noble words that he uttered, have the golden ring of patriotism in them, and breathe an aspiration and a purpose that Mr. LINCOLN never lost sight of while he lived—the purpose to give the nation a new birth of liberty. Speaking of the noble dead, with his characteristic abnegation of himself, he said on the occasion of dedicating the Cemetery at Gettysburg:

> "Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived or dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We are met to dedicate a portion of it as the final resting place of those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.
> "But in a large sense we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated to the unfinished work that they have thus far so nobly carried on. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to the cause for which they have gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that the dead shall have not died in vain—that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth of freedom, and that the Government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

How different this strain and how different its style, from the speeches with which the country has resounded, for a month past! Here is no vain, self-flattery, no ranting about the Executive, no railing at the legislative branch of the Government. It is dignified, earnest even to solemnity, and the whole soul of the speaker centres in the achievement of a new birth of freedom, and the preservation of the Government of the people, by the people and for the people. The same glorious idea engrosses, this day, the minds of the Republican people, and to the grand result to which their brave fellow citizens devote their lives on battle fields, they will consecrate their suffrages at the ensuing election, and so carry forward the work that the death of the soldiers and the death of the lamented man who honored the soldiers, living and dead, left unfinished.

GENERAL GRANT'S LETTER.

It was courteous in the Committee to invite General GRANT to be present at the Convention of Soldiers and Sailors in this city, and it was in strict accord with his good sense respectfully to decline the invitation, on the ground of his being a military officer and, as such, bound by propriety to abstain from mingling in mere party demonstrations.

The letter of General GRANT does not, of course, apply to those who, having been connected with the army, are now living and acting only in the capacity of citizens, and who, from their numbers, intelligence and merited influence, are entitled to a large and important agency, as a part of the people, in maintaining the interests and honor of the Republic. General GRANT has only reference to himself and other officers of the army, such as have been educated by the country and are now in its service as its defenders. We do not know as the General had any personal applications of his remark in his mind. Probably he had not. But from our standpoint, we cannot but notice how aptly the regret expressed by him might apply to the Commander-in-Chief, who has lately taken a very "conspicuous part in the political dissensions of the day," and has done more than any other man to aggravate and extend those dissensions.

THE HERO OF FORT PILLOW AND THE CLEVELAND CONVENTION.

True soldiers and patriots everywhere will regard it as little less than disgraceful that the rebel General FORREST, the hero of Fort Pillow, should have ventured to congratulate the Cleveland Convention, and, worse yet, that the Convention should have received and read his communication with uproarous applause! Anybody but that man, should have been the instinctive response of every member of the Convention. A slave dealer by profession before the war, and during the war a butcherer of negroes, he is not the man for true soldiers or decent citizens to hold communication with. We agree we must live with the Southern people in the family of States,—to cultivate feelings of amity and concord, is a duty,—but work begun through this infamous man FORREST can lead to no good end. He is not a representative man in the South—except for the odium that attaches to his former character and pursuit, which in the South even was regarded as little less than infamous.

WHAT GRANT THINKS OF VOTING FOR CLYMER.

General GRANT is no partizan politician. When he becomes one, he says he will resign the office he holds. But he has opinions, and decided ones, too. He is of the opinion that the party that opposed the war and were regarded hopefully by the rebels,—that framed the Chicago platform and takes up such men for office as HIESTER CLYMER, are unworthy of support. Taking him for a sample, General GRANT declares that "TO ASK ANY SOLDIER TO VOTE FOR SUCH A MAN, OF AT ONE TIME KNOWN DISLOYALTY, AGAINST ANOTHER WHO HAD SERVED FOUR YEARS IN THE UNION ARMY WITH CREDIT TO HIMSELF AND BENEFIT TO HIS COUNTRY, WAS A GROSS INSULT."

RECONSTRUCTED TEXAS.

We invite a perusal of our Texas correspondent's letter in another column. Loyal men will there find confirmed the statement that traitors must be rewarded and Unionists punished. Our correspondent is an old resident of Texas, who was compelled to leave the State during the rebellion, and returned only when the Confederate armies surrendered to GRANT. He therefore knows whereof he speaks.

GRANT'S ADVICE.

General GRANT has given the watchword for every soldier and voter. It is this: "VOTE ONLY FOR SUCH MEN AS WERE TRUE TO THE COUNTRY IN 1861!" To vote for a man who is not true to this motto is to violate the motto itself. The sentiment of the General's words covers everything. It is: "Vote for such men only as act with those who were true to the country in its great peril."

GENERAL GRANVILLE MOODY.

This distinguished patriot, who has been appointed chaplain of the Soldiers and Sailors' convention, will arrive in the city on Monday. Should a meeting be appointed for him at which to speak, it will be duly announced.

IN reply to the direct question put to Mr. RAYMOND, in case the President should undertake to set up the non-admitted Southern members and their sympathisers as the true Congress, in which body he as a Representative from the Sixth District, he would take his seat, that gentleman says he "would take his seat in that Congress which should assemble in accordance with existing law." There is just sufficient ambiguity about this reply to occasion doubt and affect injuriously Mr. RAYMOND. He owes it to himself to be more explicit.

THOSE who call themselves "conservative Republicans" are great sticklers for the Philadelphia platform. In particular does the editor of the New York Times insist that this is the ground whereon he stands in opposition to the dreadful "radicals," and in support of the President. Now, will the editor tells us whether or not the President's late speeches should be taken as a correct exposition of the Philadelphia platform; whether the revolutionary idea that Congress is an unconstitutional body inheres in it, and whether the declaration of the President, many times repeated, that all who oppose his policy are traitors, squares with the aforesaid platform? Is the President on or off the platform in saying these things?

PENNSYLVANIA will be first of the great Middle and Western States to take position on the issue that has been thrust so boldly on the country. Her voice in the October election will be potent, one way or the other, in deciding the question of Union or Disunion. The November elections will be directly affected by that in the Keystone State.—Boston Post.

The Post is quite right; and if it would not deceive itself or its readers, it would conclude at once that in October Pennsylvania "will be potent" on the side of Congress in support of the Constitutional amendment. We give to the Post credit for knowing this even now, for no politician of even ordinary intelligence and sagacity, hesitates about coming to this conclusion.

GENERAL WOOL went to Cleveland supposing there would be a great crowd of Boys in Blue. It did not take the old soldier long to discern he had been deceived; so having spoken the piece he had prepared, he did what he had seldom if ever done before—beat a hasty retreat. It was given out that he had business which called him elsewhere, but he remained for a day. More sagacious—or possibly better informed, General DIX remained away altogether. The affair in its success was about equal to the celebrated campaign of General MCCLELLAN, who was in so much favor that he was loudly cheered.

IT is no longer a question why GRANT and FARRAGUT accompanied the President throughout his tour,—and it is equally well settled that they both became disgusted before the Lakes were reached, and would have returned, but for orders from their superior.

IS IT TRUE?—That the Copper-Johnson party, which gave the reception in Pittsburgh, "the greatest success ever achieved in Western Pennsylvania," had to call on a friend of the like ilk in Washington City to foot the bill?

THE Georgia Constitutionalist is of the opinion that the President, during his tour, administered rather an "overdose of flag."

Honorable Indignation Squelched.

In the Cleveland so-called Soldiers' Convention, when the dispatch from the rebel General Pillow was read, Captain Brown, of Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, rose and said this thing of being congratulated by rebels was a debatable question. He was not in favor of it, and, as a Pennsylvanian, he protested against it. [Cries of "Sit down."] Another Pennsylvania delegate said that Captain Brown did not express the sentiments of the Pennsylvania delegation in his objection to the dispatch. The second reading of the dispatch was called for, and it was read again. Captain Brown said he would withdraw his objections to it. The dispatch was applauded to the echo. It was honorable in Captain Brown to take the position he did. Had he maintained it, however, it would have been rather more to his credit. Few men of honor—far less true soldiers—it would seem to us, would wish to be congratulated by the infamous Forrest, any where or at any time. That a convention of men who had seen service should have glorified him, is indeed amazing.

THE "GROUND SWELL" EXPLAINED.—Mr. Johnson, in his New York dinner speech, said there was going to be a ground swell of public opinion. The following, by the Courier des Etats Unis, an able and influential paper published in that city, affords some clue to the right explanation: "Although a partisan of the policy of Mr. Johnson, the truth compels us to say that the impression left by his recent tour is deservedly unfavorable, and that the Chief of the Nation, by his too numerous and often ill-timed speeches, has in a measure prevented the excellent results which we had a right to expect from the Philadelphia Convention." Probably.

APPREHENDED TROUBLE IN BALTIMORE.—Conflicting opinions have been given by legal gentlemen concerning the new law regulating the registration of voters at the approaching municipal election. Out of this uncertainty, and these high official opinions, it is feared that great trouble and disturbance must spring at the election. Both parties are equally determined—one not to allow the other to vote, and the other determined they will vote at all hazards. It is supposed this will beget a necessity of declaring martial law on the day of election.

THE GREAT FAILURE.—A writer at the Cleveland so-called Soldiers' Convention, speaks as follows of the attendance, when the proceedings were fairly under way: There were exactly one hundred and seventy-five seats, and each holds nine persons. These were about one-third filled with delegates, and the remaining space nearly filled by the Johnson men of Cleveland.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

The half-interest of Trussell, the gambler, recently killed by his mistress in Chicago, in the late trotting horse, Dexter, was sold Tuesday by the administrator of the estate, to Trussell's partner, for $10,000 cash. Dexter was purchased by them only a few months ago for $14,000.

On Saturday, as the tug Pinto was towing the United States steamer Nauma, from League Island up the Chesapeake Bay to Philadelphia, the hawser broke, striking Michael Mulloney, of the Pinto's crew, across the neck, nearly severing the head from the body, killing him instantly. On the same night an unknown ship ran into the Pinto, staving in her sides, and killing one of her men named Richard Mauritz.

Says the Cincinnati Gazette: A gentleman who has kept a record of the weather, informs us that it has rained, more or less, every day for twenty-two consecutive days.

A St. Louis dispatch says: There is evidently something going on amongst the Fenians here. Squads of the Brotherhood are observable in earnest conversation on the streets, and there is considerable stir in and around their usual places of resort. There is no excitement, however, but every man wears a calm, hopeful and resolute look, as though he had a sure thing on it this time.

An important suit has been terminated in the Circuit Court at Parkersburg, West Virginia. It was a claim of T. D. Wilson, Esq., garnishee ing in the hands of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company certain sums of money due him from the Northwestern Virginia Railroad Company, to which the former claimed to be indebted. Eminent counsel were employed, and much time and thought given to the subject. The verdict rendered by the jury was for over $12,000 for the plaintiff.

There is a cholera panic in Nashville. Business is nearly suspended and people are leaving.

The trotting horse India Rubber, valued at ten thousand dollars, was fatally poisoned at the Riverside Park, in Brighton, Massachusetts, on Friday night. He was to have trotted during the day against Fearless and Fanny Allen, but was withdrawn on account of his sickness.

They tell a tough dog story out in Chicago. A dog followed his master across the plains to California. Being lonely, he sighed for the home of his puppyhood. He was missed by his master one evening, and in a few weeks thereafter, having crossed the plains alone, he walked into his former master's yard, footsore and weary.

A Western letter writer says Kansas City, Missouri, will soon be a city of one hundred thousand inhabitants. In 1857, with a population of only five or six thousand inhabitants, its annual review of trade as published in the annals of that city, showed a business of $6,011,350 31. Behind, and commercially tributary to Kansas City, is a grain and fruit producing country, larger than the States, of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, with no other outlet save through that city.

In England the recent money panic may for a time check orders for our bonds, but the reduction of the discount by the Bank of England shows that the trouble in this respect will not be of long duration, when we may expect a demand as active as that from Germany, where there is a great accumulation of capital and a growing confidence in American credit. One of the direct effects of this regard for such United States securities as have a European market, is to cause a corresponding appreciation of all securities confined to the home market, but which are well known here to be equally reliable.

DUTY OF OWNERS OF SPIRITS.—The following is an extract from a letter of instruction from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue: "Every person [section 43] owning more than fifty gallons of spirits manufactured before September 1, 1866, whether of foreign or domestic manufacture and intended for sale—except such as are in bonded warehouses—must send a written notice to the collector of the district in which such spirits are stored, prior to November 1, 1866, to gauge and prove such spirits, who will, if satisfied that such spirits were so manufactured, cause the inspector to gauge and prove the same."

THE FUTURE.—Senator Wade, in Cincinnati, concluded an eloquent speech in the following language: "There is hope for the future. Maine and Vermont have spoken in the thunder of 17,000 increased majority. Pennsylvania will take up the echo; Ohio will answer the call. [Cheers.] The great west will carry the sound until it crosses the western mountains, and from the Pacific's golden shore the voice of the people will come in grand, magnificent, terrible tones, teaching all men, however high in authority that it is less safe to prove false to the country in peace than in war.

IRISH RETURNING TO IRELAND.—An English paper says: "The 'immigration' from America into Ireland, recently noticed, continues, three steamers which arrived at Queenstown from the United States last week, having brought about one hundred and twenty steerage passengers, all returning emigrants—persons who sailed for America within the year, and had been disappointed in finding employment there at the wages they had been led to expect. On Thursday, however, one hundred and fifty emigrants left the port of Cork for the United States."

THE RAINS AND CROPS.—The Chicago Journal of Tuesday says: Our advices from various localities in the Northwest are to the effect that the continuous rains of the past fortnight are general, that the corn crop is very backward in consequence, and that should we have early frosts, immense damage would be done. As yet, however there has been no frost to do any harm. We also learn that the continued rains are causing the potatoes to rot in the ground, and there is danger of losing this important crop this fall.

OUR TEXAS CORRESPONDENCE.

The Status of Texas Determined—How the Constitutional Amendments Came to be Adopted—New State Officers Installed—Election of U. S. Senators and Reasons Therefor—Who They Are—Unionists Proscribed, Traitors Rewarded.

Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Commercial.
AUSTIN CITY, TEXAS, September 3, 1866.

Now that Texas seems to have complied with the requisitions of President Johnson's policy to such an extent as to have caused a special proclamation in her behalf to issue from the Executive Department, I feel that the time has come for me to resume my communications in reference to the condition of affairs within her territory. I wrote you two letters for publication while the Convention called to amend the Constitution was in session, which you doubtless received. The amendments to the Constitution were adopted by a small majority. Having heretofore spoken of them severally I will not add more. They were carried chiefly by a hue and cry raised against the radicals, for there is no mistaking the fact that in sentiment an overwhelming majority of the people are opposed to them, but under the pressure raised by interested parties and clamorous, loud-mouthed secessionists, very many were forced to vote against their own judgment and to go with the partizan secession leaders. The popularity of the "Conservative Union" movement, so-called, was taken advantage of to press the amendments to adoption by the popular vote; and because Governor Pease, who was a candidate supported by Provisional Governor Hamilton and his friends, was opposed to the amendments, he was styled a Radical, and those who were disposed to vote against the amendment were denounced as "Radicals," and from very fear of personal injury large numbers of them "caved in," "flickered" and went with the current.

The result of the election is, that Governor Throckmorton received about four votes to Pease's one, and on the 9th inst. he was, by order of the President, inaugurated Governor of the State of Texas. Other officers elected on the 25th of June have also been installed. Governor Hamilton and his appointees, to a very great extent, finding this country too hot for them, have gone to a northern climate, where they hope for a congenial sentiment and will doubtless find spirits akin to theirs. A large majority of those composing the State ticket were original, active and prominent secessionists, and those who were Union men and did not shortly after the vote upon secession go into the rebel army, met with but little favor. The great recommendation for office in counties and districts throughout the State is that men have been active, violent and furious in the fight against Unionists.

The election for United States Senators has just come off, and this evidences that the old virus exists with all its strength. When the Legislature met they set to work to discover among all the candidates those who had been the bitterest in their hate of our beloved Union, and they were at once elected to the offices to be filled. In the caucusses held by the members for United States Senators, most violent secession speeches were made by Munson of Brazoria, and others. The candidates for Senator from Western Texas, were Judge John Hancock, of Austin, and David S. Burnett of the Galveston locality. The former was an original Union man—the latter a rampant secessionist. Munson in his speech declared that no man should be elected to Congress who could take the "test oath," and when he avowed himself for Burnett was applauded vociferously. The result of the election was that Burnett received a majority of 22 votes, over one of the ablest men in the State—one, too, who was in at the birth, and God-father, if not father of the new Conservative Union party. But, alas, for him there was no showing, because forsooth he had opposed secession, and after it raged with deadly fury had left the country and gone North, as they say, "to our enemies." Hancock is a man of vigor, and alive to the issues of the times, with ability to act in any emergency. Burnett is superannuated, an old fogy, who came upon the stage just after the Texas revolution, but whose light was suddenly eclipsed and entirely obscured by Houston and Rush, and hundreds of other able men. In obscurity he remained until secession came up, and then he took part with the "smaller fry" against Sam. Houston, and helped to break him down, and since the termination of the war he has rendered himself doubly dear to the hearts of Secessionists by being the bearer to Washington of the petition for the release of Jeff. Davis, and by getting into a quarrel with a petty officer of the Freedmen's Bureau.

The election for Senator from the East came off afterwards, and as a matter of course the most active and prominent secessionist that could be found was elected in the person of Orrin R. Roberts, the President of the Secession Convention of 1861! He was at the time of secession one of the Supreme Judges of the State, who disgraced the ermine by wading into the muddy pool of politics, and left the bench to deliver harangues in favor of secession. One of his speeches "On the impending crisis" was published and circulated by tens of thousands throughout the State, and had a great effect in manufacturing rebels. Subsequently, he went into the service as the colonel of a regiment, and it remains to be seen whether a loyal Congress will permit this man whose hands are red with the blood of slaughtered Union men, and who is in great part responsible for the wholesale destruction of Texas Unionists, to take a seat in the most exalted tribunal of the nation.

Judge Evans, who had been named by the press as Senator from the East, and whose ability, patriotism and Unionism is of national representation found "none so poor as to do him reverence." He, too, had gone North and "adhered to our enemies, and was unworthy of consideration." Others who were voted for had fallen down and worshipped the beast the fiery and foul monster that brought ruin upon our land.

Neither of the Senators are men of a high order of talent. In the Senate they would be only known for their innate meanness. They are not men of force as speakers, nor are they deep thinkers. Judge Roberts is very slow, dull and heavy—a tall, slender person, rather slovenly in gait and habit, with black eyes, and grey hair, about sixty years of age, with a very small head and a narrow contracted mind.

My paper is about exhausted, so I close for the present. KEYSTONE.

STILL FURTHER TESTIMONY.
In reference to the efficacy of the Rev. E. A. Wilson's great REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION:
UPPER SANDUSKY, September 15, 1866.
MR. FLEMING—SIR: I seat myself to drop you a few lines, to let you know the state of my health. I have had the asthma for some years, and last fall I sent to E. A. Wilson for Dr. Churchill's Preparation for Consumption and Asthma, Scrofula, &c., and I got a package and took it, and it helped me right away. Then I sent with a man to your place and got another package and took that, and I have not had anything of it since, until about three weeks ago, and I have been troubled with it since. So I will send by letter this time, and I want you to send me a package by return mail. I will send the money in this letter.

Tickets may be procured at Pittock's, Gildenfenney's, Aikens', Hunt's and Miner's Book Stores, at the Monongahela, St. Charles and Merchant's Hotel, and of the Mayor's Police Officers. It is the earnest desire of the Director to contribute as large a sum as possible to this laudable object, and in proposing the scheme he feels confident of a successful result, for there are no doubt enough already stimulated by published accounts of the want and sufferings now existing among the more needy victims, to a desire to add to the receipts the trifle for which they are now asked, in this way, to fully meet the most sanguine expectations.
It is not, as may be supposed, a desire to take undue credit, or make capital that the Director has proposed this scheme, his main object being to do what is within his power, without serious detriment to himself, to alleviate the sufferings of unfortunate fellow creatures.
The result will be published in the Monday papers, and the entire amount forwarded to the Treasurer of the Relief Fund at Johnstown, as a contribution from the Citizens and Press of Pittsburgh, through the agency of the Opera House.

WANTED.—AGENTS FOR THE PICTORIAL BOOK OF ANECDOTES AND INCIDENTS OF THE REBELLION;
Heroic, Patriotic, Romantic, Humorous and Tragical. Splendidly Illustrated with over 300 fine Portraits and Beautiful Engravings.
There is a certain portion of the war that will never go into the regular histories, and will not get embodied in romance or poetry, which is a very real part of it, and will, if preserved, convey to succeeding generations a better idea of the spirit of the conflict than many dry reports or careful narratives of events, and this part may be called the gossip, the fun, the pathos, of the war.
These illustrate the character of the leaders, the humor of the soldiers, the devotion of women, the bravery of men, the pluck of our heroes, the romance and hardships of the service. From the beginning of the war the author has been engaged in collecting all the anecdotes connected with or illustrative of it, and has grouped and classified them under appropriate heads, and in a very attractive form.
The volume is profusely illustrated with over 300 engravings by the first artists, which are really beautiful; worthy of examination as specimens of art. Many of them are set into the body of the text, after the popular style of Lossing's Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution. The book's contents include reminiscenses of camp, picket, spy, scout, bivouac, siege and battlefield adventures; thrilling feats of bravery, wit, drollery, comical and ludicrous adventures, etc., etc.
Amusement as well as instruction may be found in every page, as graphic detail, brilliant wit and authentic history, are skillfully interwoven in this work of literary art.
This work sells itself. The people are tired of dry details and partizan works, and want something humorous, romantic and startling. We have agents clearing over $200 per month. Send for circulars and see our terms and proof of the above assertion. Address

HARRISON STEAM BOILER.
No More Destruction of Life and Property by Steam Boiler Explosions.
Great Reduction in Price.

From the rapid manner in which the HARRISON STEAM BOILER is coming into use, but little need be said of its conceded merits. They may be summed up briefly as follows: Absolute safety from explosion, as it cannot be burst under any practicable steam pressure; less first cost; economy in fuel equal to the best in use; facility of transportation; it occupies but about one-third the ground area of ordinary boilers.

In consequence of the recent improvements in its manufacture, the above boiler can be furnished to the public at less cost than heretofore and is now much the cheapest article in the market.

The eminent engineers, Messrs. Wm. Sellers & Co., speak of the Harrison Boiler as follows:

OFFICE OF WILLIAM SELLERS & CO.,
Philadelphia, August 15, 1866.

JOSEPH HARRISON, Jr., Esq.—Dear sir: We have your favor of the 9th instant, and now may say in reply, that we have now had one "HARRISON BOILER" in constant use in our Works for nearly two years. It has given us great satisfaction. We consider it quite as economical in the use of fuel as any boiler made with which we are acquainted and are satisfied that it is much safer than any Boiler made.

Yours, truly, WILLIAM SELLERS & CO.

Criminal Court—The Lawrenceville Outrage—Heavy Sentences.

The Criminal Court met yesterday morning at nine o'clock, Judges Mellon and Brown on the bench.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. James Welsh, Wm. Kinzie and Wm. McMillen, indicted for outraging the person of Fanny Smith, at Hatfield, on the night of the 29th of July last, was proceeded with. The following witnesses were examined for the Commonwealth: John Paddock, Peter Gormley, Thomas Donnelly, Dr. J. H. Robinson, Mrs. Tanney, Mrs. Hannah Donaldson, Officer A. J. Moon, Ward Nicholson, Arthur Chislett, Officer John Wrigley and Benedict Meldoff. The following witnesses testified for the defense: Abraham Gross, Mr. Anderson, Jacob Wainwright, Samuel Copeland, Samuel Alexander, John Alexander, Samuel Reynolds and Henry Brabe. The witnesses for the defense testified principally to the character of the defendants. The case was submitted to the jury without argument, and the Court charged the jury. The jury retired, and after a brief absence returned with a verdict of GUILTY as to all the defendants. The prisoners were brought up for sentence, when Judge Mellon said that the evidence against them was most conclusive; they had committed a heinous outrage, and deserved the severest punishment the law could inflict. The Court then sentenced each of the defendants to pay a fine of one thousand dollars and to undergo an imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for the term of fifteen years.

Amariza Stewart was next tried on an indictment for larceny. He was charged with stealing a carpet sack, containing a dress and shawl from the Union Depot. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, recommending the prisoner to the mercy of the Court. He was remanded for sentence.

The last case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. Charles Fisher, indicted for forgery. The defendant was charged with having, on the 18th of July last, drawn twelve hundred and fifty dollars from the Bank of Pittsburgh, on a check purporting to have been signed by Mr. Dennis Leonard, but which afterwards turned out to have been forged. The case was held over for trial several times, to allow the defendant to obtain witnesses. The case was brought up in Court yesterday. The jury, after a brief absence, returned a verdict of guilty. Fisher was then sentenced by the Court to undergo an imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for the term of four years.

Court then adjourned until this morning.

The "Boys in Blue" and citizens of Liberty and Collins townships will hold a public meeting this evening, at half past seven o'clock, which will be addressed by Hon. James K. Moorhead, Gen. A. L. Pearson, Capt. Samuel Harper and Sergeant John H. Kerr. The loyal citizens of the above named townships have purchased a beautiful silk flag, to be presented this evening to the "Boys in Blue." William C. Moreland, Esq., will deliver the presentation speech, and Sergeant J. H. Kerr will receive it on behalf of the organization. Mr. J. W. Pope the popular campaign singer, will be present.

The Seventh ward "Boys in Blue" will hold a meeting to-night at the School House, which will be addressed by several prominent speakers. The Second and Sixth ward Glee Clubs will be present. The badges and sashes will be distributed to the members.

The "Boys in Blue" of the First ward, Pittsburgh, assemble to-night at the School House, at seven and a half o'clock, when officers will be appointed for the delegation in the procession of the 25th. A full attendance is expected.

The members of the Tenth ward Geary Club are requested to meet this evening at the office of Messrs. Bayne & Shafer, Fifth street, to make arrangements for participating in the torchlight procession on Tuesday night.

The Pitt township Geary Club will hold a public meeting this evening, at seven and a half o'clock, at the Minersville Public School House. William Little, and other prominent speakers will be present.

The Boys in Blue of the Second ward, Allegheny, are requested to meet at the School House this evening, at seven o'clock, to make arrangements for participating in the demonstration on Tuesday night, and also in regard to the coming Convention.

The Ladies' Decorating Committee.

We visited City Hall, yesterday, and found a large number of the ladies busily engaged in making wreaths, rosettes, and such other devices of ornamentation as their good taste suggested. Only a portion of the necessary materials had been provided by the Committee having the matter in charge, but such as are on hand are being rapidly transferred into elegant and appropriate symbols of the patriotic devotion so eminently characteristic of the lovely women of Pittsburgh and its vicinity. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, they give unwearied attention to the work they have undertaken, and will leave nothing undone that may be necessary to render their part of the forthcoming demonstration entirely successful.

The Committee held a regular meeting yesterday morning at the hall. Miss Mary H. Gray reported the following ladies for her Committee: Miss Ella S. Sawyer, Miss Annie Cooper, Miss Jennie R. Bayne, Miss Libbie Schwartz, Miss Lyde Hays, and Miss Kate McKnight.

The ladies will meet from day to day until the decoration is fully completed.

Meetings to Come Off.

A grand Union Republican mass meeting will take place on Saturday afternoon, at two o'clock, on the vacant lot between Etna and Sharpsburg. Another mass meeting will also take place in the evening, at seven o'clock, at the same place. A large number of prominent speakers have engaged themselves to be present and address the meetings. A grand outpouring is expected.

To-morrow evening, at seven o'clock, a grand meeting of the Union Republicans of McKeesport will be held, and Thomas M. Marshall, Esq., B. F. Lucas, Esq. and Captain Samuel Harper will address the assemblage.

A Union Republican meeting will take place at Wilkinsburg, to-morrow night, which will be addressed by Dr. A. W. Hawkins, of Nashville, Tennessee, the distinguished orator and Southern Unionist, and Hon. J. K. Moorhead.

The meeting which was announced to take place in the Allegheny Diamond last night, was postponed until to-morrow evening, on account of the inclemency of the weather.

VETERANS OF 1812.—The soldiers and sailors in the war of 1812, residing in the West, that are in favor of the proposed amendment of the Constitution of the United States, now before the people, are requested to meet in counsel, with the Boys in Blue, in Pittsburgh, Pa., on Tuesday, 25th inst., at nine o'clock A. M. Our quarters are in City Councils' Messenger's Room, first room on the right hand, third floor of the North Market House, entrance at east end. To use the words of one of our Generals when proposing an invasion of Canada by volunteers in 1813, "Come in squads, come in pairs, or come singly." We trust you will find the latch-string out in the city for the few of us still remaining, and the Boys' Quartermaster's Department will furnish us transportation for the ceremonies.

Choral Union—Reorganization for the Season.

The Pittsburgh Choral Union, which gave, last winter, two sacred concerts at Masonic Hall, have reorganized, and will, under the direction of George M. Alexander, as director, commence rehersal about the 1st of October, with a full orchestra. They will give several oratories never performed in this city, such as "The Creation," "Sampson," "Haydon's Seasons," and "Judas Maccabeus." The best talent in the city has been selected to take the leading parts in these oratorios. It has also been suggested that they give concerts of miscellaneous selections of music, and, we understand, that they intend to do so.

PITT TOWNSHIP "BOYS IN BLUE."—The "Boys in Blue" of Pitt township, held an adjourned meeting at the School House on Wednesday evening. The President, Major H. B. Van Voorhis presided. The following Finance Committee was appointed: Colonel D. B. Morris, Chairman; M. Mawhinney, Captain G. W. Bowers, Samuel Bellour, John W. Morgan, A. S. Bright, David Peters. Colonel D. B. Morris was appointed delegate to the National Convention, in place of Sergeant Wm. Livesly, who is absent from home. The members of the organization will parade on horseback at the procession on Tuesday night, and have already hired about fifty horses. The meeting adjourned until Monday evening next.

LADIES OF ALLEGHENY CITY.—The loyal ladies of Allegheny City are requested to assemble at the Second Ward School House, on Friday, September 21, at 4 o'clock P. M., to counsel with regard to erecting a triumphal arch, or some fitting testimonial of welcome to our soldiers who are expected to convene on Tuesday. Ladies respond promptly, and let us share with Pittsburgh the honor of extending a cordial welcome to our brave heroes.

MANY LADIES.

DANGEROUSLY INJURED.—A man named McGuffin was dangerously injured at the outer depot of the Allegheny Valley Railroad yesterday morning. McGuffin, who is an employee of the company, was engaged in coupling some cars, and had stepped on the main track of the road. While standing there, the accommodation train coming south approached unobserved, and he was struck by the cow-catcher of the engine. His leg was broken, and he was otherwise injured so badly that he is considered to be in a very critical condition.

DEDICATION.—The Baptist Church of East Birmingham, on Sabbath last, dedicated a very neat church edifice which they had recently purchased, and refitted and furnished with much taste. Services were held in the new church throughout all the day. The Reverend James S. Dickerson, of the First Baptist Church of this city, preached the dedication sermon, before a very large audience in the afternoon.

ELEGANT FURNISHED RESIDENCE FOR SALE.—A fine opportunity for entering upon housekeeping without the usual vexations, and in a location having every advantage of markets, churches, meetings, etc., and in the immediate vicinity of the business part of the city, is offered in our advertising columns to-day.

AN ACKNOWLEDGED INSTITUTION.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches," are among the acknowledged institutions of the land. What would our ministers, our lawyers, do without these invaluable Troches? To what an amount of "ahems" and coughs and throat clearings would we be all subjected, were it not for those all-powerful and soothing lozenges? We have tried them, and they did us good.—New York Waverly.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

THURSDAY, September 20—P. M.

The quotations received to-day from the New York gold and stock boards show a decline in gold and Government securities, and considerable fluctuation in Railways. Gold sold at 44⅛; Eighty-ones, 11⅝; Five-twenties at 11½ for old, and 108⅜ for new; Ten-forties, 98⅝; Seven-thirties, 106 for all the series; Michigan Southern, 85 to 85⅝; Cleveland and Pittsburgh, 87; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago, 105¾; Erie, 75⅝; Chicago and Rock Island, 110⅞; Chicago and Northwestern, common, 36⅜; Chicago and Northwestern, preferred, 67¾.

The excitement at the petroleum and mining board is very great, and the transactions heavier than they have ever been. The sales, however, are confined almost entirely to gold mining stocks. Consolidated Gregory, Quartz Hill, Rocky Mountain, Smith and Parmalee seem to be the favorites. Holman advanced fifty per cent. in three days. Among the few Petroleums that continue to show signs of animation are Bennehoff Run and United States. The former is quoted to-day at 12½c advance over yesterday's price.

The advance in Michigan Central is caused by its greatly increased earnings, and is therefore strictly on its merits.

—Local stocks are firmly held under the impression that an advance will soon take place, as money is easy, and many capitalists are seeking investment in our leading securities. Allegheny Valley Railroad stock has been very quiet during the present week. We have not heard of a single transaction in the stock, although there has been some considerable inquiry for it. The advance obtained the previous week is hardly sustained, and some small lots are offered at 15 to 16 without any takers.

Produce and General Markets.

[Pittsburgh Commercial's Report.]

FRIDAY, September 21.—Business yesterday was inactive, the weather being unfavorable for outdoor trade. Our rivers are in fine navigable order to all points. The coal boat men have a busy time getting their boats and barges ready for the lower markets. The amount to go forward is large, and from appearances, there will be plenty of water for all to get out. Our neighbors below can get ready to put in their winter supply. Mr. A.'s predictions in regard to a coal boat rise have been verified. He is generally very correct. On the upper landing activity was the order of the day. We noticed the following boats receiving freight: Importer, for New Orleans; America, St. Louis; W. A. Caldwell, Cincinnati; Bayard, Parkersburg. Unloading, Pine Grove and Argonaut No. 2. Other boats were making ready to load. The fall trade in the river is opening early the present season. Trade on the Allegheny appears brisk. The Ida Rees No. 2 left for Oil City with a fine trip. The present rise in that stream will bring out a large amount of oil that has been waiting shipment for some time. This will make busy times on the Allegheny landing. Below will be found the sales that came under our notice:

HAY—We have no particular change to notice. The receipts were fair and sales were to a fair extent. Sales of 2 cars on track at $22 00@23 00. Small lots were disposed of at the scales at $20 00@24 00.

CHEESE—Holders remain firm in their views. The demand keeps pace with the supply. Western Reserve—Small lots changed hands at 15½@16c. Hamburg—Sales 20 boxes at 17@18c. Goshen, 21c.

SWEET POTATOES—The receipts have increased during the week and prices have declined. We note sales of 15 bbls Jersey at $5 75@6 00 per barrel.

EGGS—The receipts have fallen off, and the market was firmer. Sales 6 barrels packed at 22c per dozen.

ASHES—We continue to notice a firm market with a good trade demand. As prices have undergone no change, we omit figures.

GRAIN—The unfavorable state of the weather has prevented sales. The market was steady with light sales. Wheat—The receipts were 6 car loads and 341 sacks. The only sale reported was 300 bush from elevator at $2 40. Oats appear to hold their own. Small sales were made from store at 44@45c. Corn was steady with sales from first hands at 80c and from store at the usual advance. Barley and Rye have undergone no change.

FLOUR—The market was firm with a good local demand. The receipts since our last were only 424 bbls. The stock on first hands is not large. The advantages of the market continue with holders. The store rates were: Spring wheat $11 25, $11 50@11 75. Some fancy lots were held at $12 00. Winter wheat—We note regular sales at $12 50, $13 00@13 25.

BACON—The market was steady, with a moderate demand, and prices have been uniform for some days. Shoulders—Sales 7,000 lbs, 17½@17¾c; ribbed sides, 6,000 lbs, 19½@19¾c, sugar cured hams, 6,000 pounds, 25½@26c.

MESS PORK—The market was firm, with a fair inquiry; sales 10 bbls, $34 50.

LARD OIL—Was steady, but not active: sales of No. 1 was reported at $1 70@1 72, No. 2 at $1 45 ⅌ gal.

APPLES—The supply exceeds the demand: sales 40 bbls, at $2 00@3 50 per bbl.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

(Pittsburgh Commercial's Report.)

FRIDAY, September 21.—The oil market ruled dull yesterday; the sales made were not very extensive, buyers were disposed to wait before making very extensive contracts. There is a variety of reports in regard to the amount to come forward on the present water. We omit the figures as no two persons agreed as to the amount. The market was heavy, with the advantages on the side of buyers. The receipts reached 4,244 barrels. Heavy lots are known to be on the way; any hour may witness the arrival. The river to the Oil Regions is in fine navigable order. The Ida Rees No. 2 left with a fair trip, she will be followed to-day by the Echo No. 3, 4 P. M. being the hour of departure. The sales of Crude reported were 2,500 barrels bulk, November delivery, seller's option, at 13½c; 150 barrels on the spot, 14¼c; 500 barrels bulk, to arrive, 13½c. Sales 255 barrels, packages included, 18c. Other lots were under negotiation at the same range of prices, the market being in a very unsettled condition.

REFINED OIL—The market remains dull buyers and sellers being apart in their views. The only sales that came under our notice were 500 barrels bonded, Philadelphia, immediate, 42½c, a decline. 500 barrels do, during the month, at the same figures.

Petroleum Markets.

Titusville, Pa., reports of the 18th state that business is looking up some, as the river and creek are now in very good condition and the shipments are quite heavy. At present there is an immense amount of crude stored in the producing region. The producers have now vastly greater and superior facilities for holding the commodity than they ever had before. We note sales of 1,000 bbls, Pioneer, at $4 10. 200 bbls, Bull Run, at $4 25; 2,000 bbls, Stevenson Farm, at $4 25; 300 bbls, Church Run, at $4 50.

Philadelphia reports of the 19th inst say: Prices are unsettled and lower, and the market very dull. Small sales of crude are making at 25a25½c; 3,000 bbls refined in bond at 43½a43¾c, and a small lot of free at 60a62c ⅌ gallon, as to quality.

NEW YORK, September 19.—The Price Current says: There has been a moderate inquiry for Crude, and the market has ruled steady, closing at 27a27½c for 40a47 gravity in bbls. and 19a20c in bulk. The sales are 2,250 bbls at 27½a28c for 40a47 gravity and 28a29½c for low gravity; 3,000 do. in bulk, 19 [illegible]; and 1,000 do. for September 28a28½c S O. Refined in bond, has been in active demand, but at a slight decline on previous figures. The sales include 16,000 bbls, at 38c for L S, 40c for L S to W, 43½a44½c for Prime L S to W, and 44½a45½c for S W, including a small lot P W at 45c, closing at 43a44c for Prime L S to W. and 41½a45c for S W; 15,000 galls Straw, in tin 48c; 1,000 bbls S W for September, 45c B O; and 2,000 do S W, for November, 46a47c B O. In Free we have only to note sales of 200 bbls at 55½a57½c.

Louisville Markets.

September 18.—Coal—Prices are steady. Dealers are selling at retail at 24c for Pittsburgh; Pomeroy 20c. We quote Pittsburgh and Pomeroy afloat at 16a18c in barges.

Provisions—The market is steady, with fair jobbing trade. Dealers are not pressing stocks upon the market, and the general impression is that prices must advance. We quote mess pork at $33a33 25; prime mess, $30a31; rump, $27; clear bacon sides firm at 21½c; clear rib sides 20¾c shoulders 17¼a17½c; plain hams 23a23½c; sugar cured 24a25c; lard 21a21½c in tierces and 23½a24c in kegs.

Salt—We quote Kanawha and Ohio river at 50c, in lots of 50 and 100 lbs.

Tobacco—The market was steady with very light offerings—only numbering 77 hhds. with four rejections. Sales included 12 hhds at $3 30a3 75; 16 at $4a4 95; 6 at 5a5 95; 7 at 6a6 60; 3 at 7a7 20; 5 at 8a8 95; 3 at 9 10a9 30; 6 at 10a10 75; 4 at 11a11 50; 2 at 12a12 50; 1 at 13 75; 4 at 14a14 50, 1 at 15a15 50, and 1 at 17 60.

Whisky—The market is firm with active demand. Sales of 35 bbls raw at $2 32. 20 bbls 3 year old Bourbon at $4. We quote raw at $2 32; rectified $2 05a2 30; in bond $2 50; old copper $2 75a3 25.

Cincinnati Provision Market.

September 19.—The Commercial says: The provision market looses nerve. Sales of mess pork at $32 50 a32 65a32 75 were recorded, but sales above the first named figure are very hard to make.

City and country-rendered lard sold at 18½c. There is a market at that, but it is difficult to get, as that figure is only accepted by those who want to close out. Other sales at 18¾a19c were reported, but must have been in filling orders.

Bulk shoulders, it is said, can be had at 14½c, though 14¾c is the prevailing asking figure. Bulk sides are to be had at 16¾c, but this concession is not freely submitted to.

Bacon shoulders have no market above 16½c. Sides bear only nominal quotation at 19c for ribbed. Clear sold at 21c, but, like sales of lard, it must have been in filling an order for account, for we learn it can be easily had at 20¾c.

Hams are quiet, with only a limited order demand.

Grain Shipments.

The Sandusky, Ohio, Register says: When compared with the grain shipments from this port in 1862 and other years, that of the past season sinks into insignificance. But as Cleveland and some other places, which usually do a heavy business, this year report no shipments, even the light trade of this port will bear recording.

During the season eleven cargoes of corn, four of wheat and two of oats have left Sandusky.

It is probable that very little, if any, grain will be shipped from this point during the coming year, and it is not unlikely that some demand will be made on the more Western market for our own supply.

Hops.

The receipts of the new crop, says the New York Commercial List, of the 19th inst, continues light, and as the stock does not increase, the market remains steady and firm, especially for the better qualities; the sales are 200 bales new at 50a65c, as to quality and condition, and 200 do. growth of 1865, 30a70c, including 150 bales Bavarian and English at 60a70c.

Philadelphia Iron Market.

September 19.—Pig metal, says the North American, is in fair demand at full rates. Sales No. 1 Anthracite at $47a48, and No. 2 at $46 ⅌ ton. Scotch Pig moves slowly at $50. Blooms are unchanged. We quote charcoal at $90a100. Manufactured Iron is not much inquired after, but holders are firm in their views.

Receipts of Produce at Lake Ports.

The receipts at ports of Chicago, Milwaukee, Toledo and Detroit, for the week ending September 15, were: Flour, 106,765 barrels; wheat, 856,267 bushels; corn, 918,442 bushels; oats, 167,816; barley, 41,438 bushels; rye, 58,133 bushels.

PENNSYLVANIA CENTRAL STOCK YARDS.

EAST LIBERTY, September 20, 1866.

[Pittsburgh Commercial's Report.]

CATTLE—The market during the week contained a good supply. The sales were liberal, exceeding even those of last week. Former prices were barely maintained, being a slight decline on last week's figures. The number sold this week reach 2,329 head, against 2,236 last week—increase 93 head. At the close of the market a fair number remained in the pens.

HOGS—The market was dull. Buyers were disposed to hold off. The sales were below those of last week. The principal transactions were for the eastern markets. Prices were fully maintained. The Eastern exports this week were 10,000 head, against 13,500 last week; a falling off amounting to 3,500 head.

[Pittsburgh Commercial's Report.]

THURSDAY, September 20, 1866.—The cattle offerings since our last were among the largest we have noted for many weeks, ranging between 1,300 and 1,400 head. Buyers entered the market freely. The result was a large number changed hands. At the close of the market but a limited amount remained unsold. As usual, the principal inquiry was for the better grades. The extreme rates were $3 75@8 50 per cwt, against $3 75@8 50 last week. The sales this week were 1,117 head against 558 last week, an increase amounting to 559 head. New York Finance and Trade

Special Dispatch to Western Press.

MONEY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The money market remains very easy, and capital is getting to be a perfect drug. The demand for call loans is freely met at 4 per cent. for large, and 5 per cent. for small.

EXCHANGE.

The market for foreign exchange is dull. Bankers' bills are quoted at 107a107¼.

GOVERNMENTS.

The market was quiet for Government securities, but prices were generally steady. Closing prices, 5-20 coupons 1865, 108¼a108½; 10-40 coupons, 98¾a98⅞; July 7-30's 106a106⅛.

STOCKS.

The stock market at the last open board was steady in the railways and generally better, Erie and Michigan Southern being the features. After the call Erie was active and rose to 77¾, but afterwards fell to 77⅛. The balance of the list was well sustained as a general thing. There was considerable activity in the mining shares this afternoon, although the volume of business was not up to that of the first board. The market was firm right through the list and in most cases, there was a recovery from the decline of the morning. There was very little done in the Petroleum shares.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, September 20.—Money quiet and easy at 4a5 per cent. Sterling continues dull at 108⅛a107¾. Gold less active and easier opening at 145⅛, closing at 144½. Government stocks quiet and without material change. Freights to Liverpool firm. Stocks stronger. Rock Island 111¼; Cleveland Pittsburgh 87; Northwestern 36½; do preferred 68; Ft. Wayne 106½; Camden and Amboy 108½; Toledo, Wabash and Western 45½; New York Cent. 106; Erie 77¾; Erie pref. 77; Reading 115¾; Michigan Central 113¼; Michigan Southern 85¾; Chicago Burlington and Quincy, 138½; Western Union Telegraph, 56¾; Ohio and Mississippi certificates, 28⅞; Tennessee 6's, 72½; 6's 81 registered, 111¾; 5 20's, coupons, 62, 111½. At 4 o'clock stocks steady. United States 6's, 81; 5-20's coupons, 62, 111½; Tennessee 6's new, 72½; Ohio and Mississippi certificates, 28⅞; Western Union Telegraph 56¾; New York Central, 106; Erie, 77½; do preferred, 77; Reading, 115¾; Michigan Central, 113¼; Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana, 85⅞; Illinois Central, 121¾; Chicago Burlington and Quincy, 138½; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago, 106⅜; Milwaukee and St. Paul, 62¾.

The Commercial's money article says: At the morning Board stocks showed a slight reaction from the advance of yesterday, apparently the effect of sales to realize profits by the smaller class of operators, the decline ranging from ¼ to ⅜. After the Board, however, there was an abundance of buyers at the decline, and prices bounded up beyond the highest quotations of yesterday, Erie touching 76⅛a76⅜, and Michigan Southern 85⅜a85½, with a similar advance on other roads. Governments are quiet. There are few securities offered and few wanted, prices consequently remaining about stationary. Money is without change. The market is abundantly supplied. There is no outward flow of currency of importance in any direction, the western centers being well supplied with currency. The banks are ready to lend in large amounts at 4 per cent. on call, and obtain 5 per cent. on small loans. Discounts are quiet among the private bankers although the banks are doing a fair business. Prime paper ranges at 5a6 per cent. Foreign exchange is firm but quiet. There is a disposition to buy, but not at the rates at present asked. The leading drawers of sterling quote 107¾ for sixty days' bills, and in some cases 107⅞ is asked, but without effecting any transaction of consequence. Gold opened steady and at noon showed a slight advancing tendency. The market is considerably oversold, and at the opening 3-16 per cent per diem was paid for loans, but subsequently the rate declined to 1-16.

The Post's money article says: The loan market is still in favor of the borrower. The stock market is less animated. Governments are firm but without much activity. Railroad shares are barely sustained. After the board the quotations were, for Erie, 74⅞; Michigan Southern, 85⅜, Rock Island, 111¼. Foreign Exchange dull.

THE RIVER.—Last evening at twilight the marks indicated nine feet and rising slowly. The amount of coal to go forward is large.

THE new steamer Bellevernon, Capt. Darragh, is announced for Cairo and St. Louis, for which trade she was built. We shall refer to her again.

THE coal boat men had a lively time yesterday getting their boats and barges ready for departure. The weather during the afternoon was favorable.

THE Ida Rees No. 2 left yesterday for Oil City with a fine trip. She will be followed this afternoon by the Echo No. 2, Captain Gordon. 4 P. M. is the hour of departure.

THE Wheeling and Parkersburg packet for this day is the Leni Leoti, Captain Hamilton. This boat is well found in every respect, and is in charge of careful and attentive officers. Capt. A. S. Shepherd has charge of the office.

THE Wheeling and Parkersburg packet for this day is the steamer Bayard, Capt. G. D. Moore. For speed, accommodations and attentive officers this boat has no superior. Our attentive friend D. Moore does the honors in the office.

THE first-class passenger steamer Argosy, Capt. Vandergrift, is now at the landing receiving for Cincinnati, for which port she will positively depart on Saturday. This boat is in splendid order. The first clerk is our old friend Scott, one of the cleverest officers that comes to this port.

THE packet W. A. Caldwell left yesterday for Cincinnati with one of the best trips of the season. She carried out a large number of passengers. On her return from Cincinnati she will load for Arkansas river direct. Shippers can bear this in mind.

CAPTAIN JOSEPH H. PORTER has announced his new side wheel packet Ezra Porter for Memphis and New Orleans. She will commence receiving on Monday next, and will have dispatch. This boat has been got up in first rate style, and does credit to all concerned in her construction.

THE splendid passenger steamer Importer, Capt. John Noss, is loading for Memphis and New Orleans. This boat has the best of accomodations, and is in charge of experienced and attentive officers. Our esteemed friend, Captain James Mellon, does the honors in the office, with credit to himself and with profit for the owners.

THE fine passenger packet Armenia, Capt. A. C. McCallam, is announced for Cairo and St. Louis. This boat has just undergone thorough and complete repair for the fall trade. She presents a noble appearance in her new dress. Persons who have traveled on this boat speak in flattering terms of her appointments. The first clerk is Mr. A. C. McCallam, Jr., one of the most gentlemanly and correct officers that comes to this port.

THE steamer "Great Republic" is progressing finely. Mr. Porter, the builder informed us that she will be ready to launch by the middle of October, and not before. She will be hurried to completion with all possible dispatch. The machinery is in a very forward state. The attention of the Louisville Courier reporter is called to the following: The first shaft has been forged and is ready to be delivered. It weighs twenty-two thousand two hundred and eighty-five pounds. It measures twenty-four feet in length. The other other shaft is now being finished at the forge. The cranks for the shafts are twenty inches thick; five feet from center to center, and weigh seven thousand three hundred pounds each. A fair idea of the magnitude of the forgings may be gleaned from these figures. The steam hammer used for shaping them is the result of Pittsburgh mechanical skill. It weighs four tons, and has a fall of six feet. It is the largest steam hammer in the West, and has now produced the heaviest forging of which we have any account on this side of the Allegheny Mountains. All the forgings for the iron clad gunboats built in our waters was performed by this great steam hammer.

The September Run of Coal.

Below will be found the coal boat run that have left and will go out on the present rise of water. It is one of the largest that ever left this port. The fleet is destined for nine different ports, extending to the Gulf. The tow boats number 35, with 277 barges, towing out 3,177,000 bushels of coal. Besides this, several floating boats will probably go out on this rise. Persons at a distance will be able to form some idea of the coal trade of this city.

Cincinnati.

September 19—We condense the following from the Enquirer:

The weather yesterday was cloudy, with rain during the afternoon and evening, and prospects of a continuance of the same during the night.

The river, notwithstanding the heavy rains of the past few days, was falling slowly at six o'clock last evening, with scant eleven feet six inches water in the channel at that hour.

Business on the landing yesterday, notwithstanding the indications of rain, was brisk, and the boats, as a general thing, were doing a fair amount of business.

The Mohawk and barges left Saint Louis last week for New Orleans, under the auspices of Mississippi Valley Transportation Company, with the following freight: 113 casks bacon 3,500 sacks bran, 212 bundles brooms, 2,216 barrels of flour, 170 packages groceries, 714 bales hay, 963 sacks oats, 527 barrels oil, onions and pork, 350 coils rope, 160 kegs white lead, 193 barrels fire clay and 20,000 hoop poles.

BOATS LAID UP.—The following boats are now laid up at this port, awaiting for something to turn up:

The Ohio No. 3, Nymph No. 2, Monsoon, Prima Donna, Amazon, Kate Robinson, Rowena, Emma Floyd, New York, J. H. Groesbeck, Leonides Emerald, Argyle, Swallow, Westmoreland, Glasgow, Amelia Poe, Silver Lake No. 4, Anglo Saxon, Tahlequah, Commodore and Osceola.

THE AMERICA—The frame of this large and superb steamer for the Louisville Mail Line will be set up this week, and the work pushed through to a hasty completion.

The Commercial of the same date says:

Capt. W. B. Anderson of the R. C. Gray, Captains J. H. and D. W. Maratta, of the Emma No. 3, and Mr. E. P. Young, of the R. C. Gray, arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday. Capt. W. B. Anderson will commence loading the R. C. Gray for Pittsburgh to-day. Captain Nowland's new Arkansas river packet Van Buren is provided with the new lock-up safety valve. She takes three others to Memphis for the Arkansas river packets Centralia, Guidon, and Gleaner. We are pleased to observe the majority of our St. Louis and New Orleans packets have adopted the system of loading in turns. This arrangement will prove beneficial to shippers as well as to steamboatmen, as the former can rely on the positive departure of boats as advestised, while the rates of freight will be more uniform. The Albeona and Lotus No. 2 are now loading for New Orleans, to be followed by the Silver Cloud No. 2, Naugatuck and Emma No. 2.

Captain S. B. Hempstead, President of the Lawrence county, Ohio, Agricultural Society, was in the city yesterday, returning home on the Telegraph last night. This Fair will be held at Ironton, Ohio, on the 26th, 27th and 28th inst.

EVANSVILLE, September 18—7 P. M.—The weather is cloudy and sultry, with strong indications of a storm. River stationary since midnight. Business moderate. Port list: Lady Franklin, St. Louis to Cincinnati; Sam. Orr, Cairo to Evansville; Palestine, Cairo to Louisville; Newsboy, Henderson and return; Golden Eagle, Memphis to Cincinnati; Lorena, New Orleans to Cincinnati; Nashville to Cairo; Kate Putnam to St. Louis. The Lady Franklin had a good trip, and the Golden Eagle discharged 154 bales of cotton here. She has 100 bales for Cincinnati. The Lorena had two barges partly loaded. She laid here since noon, mending a cam and taking on wheat and flour. The Kate Putnam has a big trip. The Sam. Orr and S. P. Webb had good packet trips.

Cairo.

September 17.—The Salvor will, in a few days, commence work on the wreck of the Black Hawk, formerly known as the New Uncle Sam, and used as a flag ship by Commodore Porter, of the navy. The Black Hawk took fire at her anchorage, opposite Mound City, nearly two years ago, and after her bitts were burned down—thus turning loose the chains by which she was held, she floated a short distance down the river, when the flames reached her magazine, which exploded with a tremendous report, shattering her sides in such a manner that she sunk in a few minutes. Her wreck has laid undisturbed ever since, except when struck by some passing steamer, two of which have been sunk by the contact—the Peerless and Huntsville. The latter was raised soon after she sunk, and is still running.

St. Paul.

The Steamboat Packet Company are engaged in the manufacture of peat, near Wacouta, and have made considerable progress in testing the merits of that article as fuel for steamers. The Mollie Mohler used peat yesterday, and it is said to have been a very successful experiment. No difficulty was experienced in keeping up steam, though the peat itself was not as thoroughly prepared as will be the case when the peat works are put up in proper order. Every day is furnishing additional evidence as to the value of the peat bogs of Minnesota.
